NAZIS DISAPPROVE REFUGEE PROGRAM

PROTESTS GROW AGAINST DETOUR WEST OF CITY

Farm Organizations, Backed
By Retailers, Opposing Highway Closing

CONFERENCE DISCUSSED

Long Journey Through Fox
Proves Handicap To County Farmers

BULLETIN
A meeting of all parties interested in filing a protest against the closing of Route 22 have been invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.
in the Farm Bureau home.

Protests against closing of Route 22, west of the Scioto river bridge, during the entire year expected to complete improvement of the highway have been growing by leaps and bounds in the last few days with a result that a meeting of farmers and other interested in keeping the main thoroughfare open may be called sometime this week.

Farmers who find it difficult to get their produce and stock to Circleville because of long detour through Fox are taking leading voice in the opposition being raised against establishment of the detour. It is possible that the meeting may be held in the Farm Bureau home, E. Main street. Farm organizations, back by the Retail Merchants' association, Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations will probably send delegates to the conference if it is called.
Just what can be done to have the detour changed, or to have a temporary road provided through the bottom land west of the bridge has not been determined. County commissioners say that the question is out of their hands since it is a state-federal project with the state highway department being in actual charge of the work.
Henry T. McCrady and Charles Mowery, resident engineer and maintenance superintendent, respectively, of the state highway department, said last week when the detour was put into effect that barriers were placed at the request of the contractor. Many farm leaders believe that action to end the detour must come from the state highway department.

Delegation Organized
A delegation of farmers who had intended to confer with the commissioners Monday afternoon changed their plans when they were informed that such a move would be useless. F. K. Blair, county extension agent, and Harmon Hill, president of the Retail Merchants' association, telephoned the board, and were informed that the commissioners knew of nothing that they could do about the

Hopkins to Order Cut in W.P.A. Roster

Phil Chakeres, Famed Theatre Man, to Take Over Grand January 1

Phil Chakeres, one of the most successful theatre men of the north-central United States, has taken over the lease of the Grand theatre in Circleville and in the Spring will replace the present theatre with an ultra-modern show house. Announcement of the change was made in Circleville by Louis Martin, who three months ago leased the Grand from Walker Baughman. Mr. Chakeres, at his home in Springfield, announced that he would assume operation of the local theatre January 1; that he would operate it without change until Spring, and then would raze the old structure and erect one of the finest picture theatres in Central Ohio.

OFFICIALS WORK IN STOCKYARDS

Chicago Executives Have Few Hours To Handle
Heavy Consignments

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—(UP)—White-collar commission men and company executives, acting under agreement with striking live stock handlers, climbed into pens at the Union stock yards today to clear the mart of $2,000,000 worth of cattle, hogs and sheep.
The men faced the task—one to which they were unaccustomed—of feeding, weighing and delivering to packers some 20,000 cattle, 35,000 hogs and 16,000 sheep before 5 p. m., deadline set by union leaders for suspension of operations.

The handlers, members of the Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee, affiliate of the Congress for Industrial Organizations, went on strike without notice ear-

SASHA MAY SEEK SAFER HAVEN IN WILDS OF BRAZIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(UP)—Sasha Seimel, who took a bow, arrows and a spear and retired to the Brazilian jungle for the duration of the World War, viewed the international situation anxiously today, and said he might be leaving for the jungle soon.

He arrived yesterday, on the freighter Bruyere intending to stay here 10 weeks and then make a lecture tour before returning to Brazil. But after reading the newspapers he said he might not be able to stay so long.

He said it was his "love of freedom and aversion to being tossed around," that made him flee wars. "And anyhow I thought it would be much safer in the jungle."

He first entered the Matto Grosso when the war started in 1914. He emerged the day after the Armistice. In the interim, he had become known to the natives as the "tiger man," and became proficient at slaying jaguars with his six-foot steel-bladed spear and his 28-inch broadhead arrows shot from a six-foot bow. He can, he says, kill a 350-pound jaguar at 20 to 30 yards with arrows, and uses the spear only to stave off attacks from beasts he has wounded.

He is six feet tall, heavily bearded, a native of Latvia.

WEIDINGER VS. HAMMACK TRIAL NEARING CLOSE

The $10,100 damage suit of S. C. Weidinger against L. M. Hammack, both of Darbyville community, alleging malicious prosecution, was to be submitted Tuesday afternoon to a Common Pleas court jury. Arguments were to be completed after the noon recess.
Witnesses questioned for the defendant, Tuesday, included Mrs. Jessie Woolever, Frank Beaty and H. B. Darst, all of the Darbyville community, and Ray Davis, attorney for the defendant. Mr. Hammack took the stand Monday afternoon.

THOUSANDS MAY LOSE POSTS AS CASH DWINDLES

Industrial Areas To Feel
Brunt Of Reduction
Expected Soon

APPROPRIATION TO LAST
Administrator To Announce
Program In Few Days,
Capital Hears

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(UP)—The Works Progress administration, it was learned today, is preparing to drop thousands of persons from its relief rolls to make its $1,500,000,000 appropriation last until March 1, 1939.

This plan was revealed by reliable sources who said that W. P. A. Administrator Hopkins might issue a formal statement in a few days.

Administration officials said that the "truly needy" would be kept on the rolls and that those who have prospects of employment would be dropped. Further than that they were reluctant to discuss the plan.

Such a step would follow instructions by President Roosevelt last month to make the full relief appropriation suffice until March. In his annual budget revision early last Summer, however, he estimated that an additional $500,000,000 would be required for relief expenditures through June 30, 1939, the end of the current fiscal year.

On Oct. 8 there were a record 3,136,116 persons on W. P. A. rolls and more than half the relief appropriation had been spent.
Industrial areas, where reemployment has been more noticeable, will bear the brunt of the cut, it was understood, precluding any necessity of a blanket reduction. In the South and other areas where seasonal occupations predominate, the rolls will be reduced the least.

Road Project Employees
Bruised; Ex-Circleville
Resident Injured

Harry Niles of Columbus, a former Circleville resident, was cut on the head and six Circleville W. P. A. workers were bruised, Tuesday, in an auto collision on Route 104 about 10 miles north of the city. The accident occurred about 6:45 a. m.

Niles, who was riding with J. O. McAdams, 537 W. Fourth avenue, Columbus, was returned to Columbus for treatment.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said the six W. P. A. workers were going to their employment on the Harrisburg-Darbyville road. They were riding in an auto driven by Charles Dillison, 608 S. Washington street. Others in the car were Elmer Cooper, Russell Knece, Rance Wolfe, Thomas Tatman and William Moss.

Radcliff said the cars collided on a curve, locking front wheels. Both cars were badly damaged.

D. L. Fullerton, 999 Chelsea avenue Columbus, was bruised Monday about 6:30 p. m. in a traffic mishap on Route 23 about five and a half miles north of the city. Deputy Sheriff Robert Adkins, who investigated the accident, said an auto driven by Homer Genther, Route 4, Vassar, Mich., was stopped suddenly when a sack of cobs fell from a passing truck in the path of the car. The auto driven by Fullerton struck the rear of the Genther car. Both cars were going north.

Widow of Young Dodge, Once Phone Operator, Needs $33,000 Monthly

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. —(UP)—A 19 year old widow who less than a year ago was earning $18 a week as the village telephone operator at Gore Bay Ont., today sought "living expenses" of $33,000 a month from the motor millions of her late husband, Daniel Dodge.

A hearing was scheduled for today on the request of Mrs. Annie Laurine MacDonald Dodge that she be granted the funds to permit her to live in keeping "with the Dodge fortune and family tradition", during litigation over her husband's will.

Paul Oren, attorney for Mrs. Dodge, expected that the request would be opposed by Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, Dodge's mother and one of the world's richest women. Mrs. Wilson received the bulk of her son's $10,000,000 estate, while the widow received only $250,000 through a pre-marital agreement.

Dodge was drowned in Georgian Bay while on his honeymoon last Aug. 15. Soon afterward Mrs. Dodge revealed that she was dissatisfied with the settlement and that she would ask a greater share of the estate according to a widow's rights under the law.
In her petition filed in probate court a week ago Mrs. Dodge explained that while living for six weeks prior to her marriage at Mrs. Wilson's estate Meadowbrook Hall, at Rochester, Mich., she had become accustomed to the Dodge style of living.

That living scale, she said, included Mrs. Wilson's 200-room house on a 1,400-acre estate. Mrs. Dodge said the estate also included a swimming pool, club house, and stables. A staff of 100 servants was necessary, the petition aid, to maintain the estate.

Mrs. Dodge, who before her marriage lived in the modest cottage of her father, the captain of a fishing tug, said that if her husband had not been killed they would now be living in the Dodge tradition—in a 20-room house on a 250-acre estate with an airplane landing field.

EIGHTH VICTIM OF ARMY PLANE ACCIDENT DIES

LAGRANGE, Ga., Nov. 22 —(UP)—Lieut. John D. Madre, Memphis, Tenn., last surviving member of a crew of eight aboard a huge army bomber which crashed in a forest near here Friday night, died early today without regaining consciousness.

Six of the others were instantly killed when the huge Douglas plane plowed into the woods during a rainstorm. The seventh died a few hours later.

ROME, Nov. 22—(UP)—Frank Smothers, Rome correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, was ordered to leave Italy before the end of the month.

Smothers was informed by the ministry of propaganda that he must leave the country because of the "unfriendly tone" of his dispatches, particularly the one of Nov. 16 concerning the ratification of the Anglo-Italian pact.

The American embassy intervened for Smothers with the foreign office. American Charge d'Affaires Edward Reed was informed that the order was irrevocable.

Smothers came to Rome after service in the Far East. He will leave soon for Paris to await a new assignment.

He will be the 10th foreign correspondent expelled by Italy this year.

ALCOHOL KILLS THREE CONVICTS

Kansas State Penitentiary
Scene Of Tragedy; 22
Other Men Ill

LANSING, Kans., Nov. 22—(UP)—Three prisoners at the Kansas state penitentiary died today and 22 others were ill, 12 seriously, from drinking a solution of wood alcohol and other chemicals they mistook for a harmless beverage.

Prison authorities said the prisoners found the alcohol Sunday. Yesterday they became ill, and early today three died. Those seriously ill were in the prison hospital.

The dead:
Monroe Adams, 31, Eldon, Mo., sentenced from Topeka in November, 1933, to serve 10 to 21 years for first degree robbery.

Joseph Harris, 43, Ashland, Okla., sentenced from Coffeyville, Kans., in October 1933, from 10 to 50 years for bank robbery.

Glen C. Roy, 34, Vinita, Okla., sentenced from McPherson, Kans., in June, 1935, to serve 5 to 10 years for burglary.

Coroner Ted Sexton of Leavenworth announced that an investigation would be made by the state board of administration. Sexton went to the prison, examined the bodies and said there was no doubt but that the men had drunk the liquid.

The men were said to have obtained the alcohol in the prison power plant. It was not disclosed immediately how the prisoners happened to have access to the plant.

Autopsies will be performed at the University of Kansas hospital at Kansas City, Kans.

POISONER CLINGS TO HOPES THAT SHE WILL LIVE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—(UP)—Anna Marie Hahn, condemned Cincinnati poison slayer, told reporters today that she still has hope of reprieve from death in the electric chair.

Her hope rests on a clemency hearing to be conducted by Daniel S. Earhart, executive secretary to Governor Martin L. Davey, on Dec. 1. Earhart will make a recommendation to the governor who, in turn, will decide whether to stay Mrs. Hahn's execution, scheduled for Dec. 7.

The governor has the power to commute her sentence or even pardon her. The courts all the way up to the U. S. supreme court have rejected her appeals.

The 32 year old blonde, convicted of killing Jacob Wagner, 78, and accused by the state of other poison murders, looked forward to imprisonment in Marysville reformatory for women. At present, she is the only woman prisoner in Ohio penitentiary.

Study Of Chamberlain's
Talk May Determine
Leader's Action

LONDON, Nov. 22—(UP)—Germany may recall Herbert Von Dirksen, her ambassador to Great Britain, it was reported today, as a vehement display of disapproval of an American initiated and British sponsored plan to aid Jewish refugees.

The program outlined by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in the house of commons brought bitter condemnation from the Nazi press, which apparently had been officially inspired, and led to reports that Dirksen would be summoned home.

Chamberlain's proposal to find homes for a number of German Jewish refugees in Tanganyika, former German colony in Africa, was interpreted by Germans as a rebuff to Germany's colonial demands, in which Tanganyika had figured prominently.

It was understood also that German had been enraged by Chamberlain's blunt intimation that Germany should contribute to the solution of the Jewish question by relaxing confiscatory decrees which would permit Jews with property and possessions.

Resolution Adds To Anger

The action of the house of commons, supported by the government, in adopting a resolution "deploring" the treatment of Jews in Germany added to the reaction, it was said.

The British press carried the report of Von Dirksen's "imminent" summons to Berlin headlines. Fuehrer Adolf Hitler received a minute by minute report of the debate in commons at his retreat

HUNGARY DEFIES NAZIS IN RIFT OVER RUTHENIA

VIENNA, Nov. 22—(UP)—A war of words between Germany and Hungary filled the air waves today emphasizing a tense situation over the autonomous Czechoslovak province of Ruthenia, where armed clashes threaten an international incident.

The radio statements from Germany were much the same as those used to prepare the atmosphere for Germany's annexation of Sudetenland.

While accurate reports from the scene of the "disturbances" in Ruthenia were difficult to obtain, the press in Budapest published details of alleged "terrorism" there.

Dispatches claimed that terrorists were blowing up bridges and obstructing roads. They said that the sound of artillery fire could be heard every night from the neighborhood of Chust, capital of Ruthenia. Hungarians established camps for Ruthenian refugees at Ungvar and Munkacs, the reports said.

The Hungarian newspapers published the text of telegrams allegedly sent by the population of Ruthenian villages to Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini asking their aid in obtaining union with Hungary.

PROTESTS GROW AGAINST DETOUR WEST OF CITY

Farm Organizations, Backed By Retailers, Opposing Highway Closing

CONFERENCE DISCUSSED

Long Journey Through Fox Proves Handicap To County Farmers

BULLETIN

A meeting of all parties interested in filing a protest against the closing of Route 22 have been invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Farm Bureau home.

Protests against closing of Route 22, west of the Scioto river bridge, during the entire year expected to complete improvement of the highway have been growing by leaps and bounds in the last few days with a result that a meeting of farmers and other interested in keeping the main thoroughfare open may be called sometime this week.

Farmers who find it difficult to get their produce and stock to Circleville because of long detour through Fox are taking leading voice in the opposition being raised against establishment of the detour. It is possible that the meeting may be held in the Farm Bureau home, E. Main street. Farm organizations, back by the Retail Merchants' association, Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations will probably send delegates to the conference if it is called.

Just what can be done to have the detour changed, or to have a temporary road provided through the bottom land west of the bridge has not been determined. County commissioners say that the question is out of their hands since it is a state-federal project with the state highway department being in actual charge of the work. Henry T. ALCOHOL KILLS THREE CONVICTS

Kansas State Penitentiary Scene Of Tragedy; 22 Other Men Ill

LANSING, Kans., Nov. 22—(UP)—Three prisoners at the Kansas state penitentiary died today and 22 others were ill, 12 seriously, from drinking a solution of wood alcohol and other chemicals they mistook for a harmless beverage.

Prison authorities said the prisoners found the alcohol Sunday. Yesterday they became ill, and early today three died. Those seriously ill were in the prison hospital.

The dead:

Monroe Adams, 31, Eldon, Mo., sentenced from Topeka in November, 1933, to serve 10 to 21 years for first degree robbery.

Joseph Harris, 43, Ashland, Okla., sentenced from Coffeyville, Kans., in October 1933, from 10 to 50 years for bank robbery.

Glen C. Roy, 34, Vinita, Okla., sentenced from McPherson, Kans., in June, 1935, to serve 5 to 10 years for burglary.

Coroner Ted Sexton of Leavenworth announced that an investigation would be made by the state board of administration. Sexton went to the prison, examined the bodies and said there was no doubt but that the men had drunk the liquid.

The men were said to have obtained the alcohol in the prison power plant. It was not disclosed immediately how the prisoners happened to have access to the plant.

Autopsies will be performed at the University of Kansas hospital at Kansas City, Kans.

POISONER CLINGS TO HOPES THAT SHE WILL LIVE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—(UP)—Anna Marie Hahn, condemned Cincinnati poison slayer, told reporters today that she still has hope of reprieve from death in the electric chair.

Her hope rests on a clemency hearing to be conducted by Daniel S. Earhart, executive secretary to Governor Martin L. Davey, on Dec. 1. Earhart will make a recommendation to the governor who, in turn, will decide whether to stay Mrs. Hahn's execution, scheduled for Dec. 7.

The governor has the power to commute her sentence or even pardon her. The courts all the way up to the U. S. supreme court have rejected her appeals.

The 32 year old blonde, convicted of killing Jacob Wagner, 78, and accused by the state of other poison murders, looked forward to imprisonment in Marysville reformatory for women. At present, she is the only woman prisoner in Ohio penitentiary.

Study Of Chamberlain's Talk May Determine Leader's Action

LONDON, Nov. 22—(UP)—Germany may recall Herbert Von Dirksen, her ambassador to Great Britain, it was reported today, as a vehement display of disapproval of an American initiated and British sponsored plan to aid Jewish refugees.

The program outlined by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in the house of commons brought bitter condemnation from the Nazi press, which apparently had been officially inspired, and led to reports that Dirksen would be summoned home.

Chamberlain's proposal to find homes for a number of German Jewish refugees in Tanganyika, former German colony in Africa, was interpreted by Germans as a rebuff to Germany's colonial demands, in which Tanganyika had figured prominently.

It was understood also that Germany had been enraged by Chamberlain's blunt intimation that Germany should contribute to the solution of the Jewish question by relaxing confiscatory decrees which would permit Jews with property and possessions.

Resolution Adds To Anger

The action of the house of commons, supported by the government, in adopting a resolution "deploring" the treatment of Jews in Germany added to the reaction, it was said.

The British press carried the report of Von Dirksen's "imminent" summons to Berlin headlines.

Fuehrer Adolf Hitler received a minute by minute report of the debate in commons at his retreat.

HUNGARY DEFIES NAZIS IN RIFT OVER RUTHENIA

VIENNA, Nov. 22—(UP)—A war of words between Germany and Hungary filled the air waves today emphasizing a tense situation over the autonomous Czechoslovak province of Ruthenia, where armed clashes threaten an international incident.

The radio statements from Germany were much the same as those used to prepare the atmosphere for Germany's annexation of Sudetenland.

While accurate reports from the scene of the "disturbances" in Ruthenia were difficult to obtain, the press in Budapest published details of alleged "terrorism" there.

Dispatches claimed that terrorists were blowing up bridges and obstructing roads. They said that the sound of artillery fire could be heard every night from the neighborhood of Chust, capital of Ruthenia. Hungarians established camps for Ruthenian refugees at Ungvar and Munkacs, the reports said.

The Hungarian newspapers published the text of telegrams allegedly sent by the population of Ruthenian villages to Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini asking their aid in obtaining union with Hungary.

NEW "STIGMA" INVOKED

Nazis Put Further Ban On Oppressed People; New Camps Provided

BERLIN, Nov. 22—(UP)—The German press sharply warned Britain against using former German colonies as Jewish refuges today as Nazi concentration camps swelled with new arrests and a "stigma" was placed on Jews.

Reports in London that Germany might recall her ambassador, Herbert Von Dirksen, were met with the statement from a spokesman from the propaganda ministry that "nothing is known here."

Pressed for a denial he said: "How can one deny, if nothing whatsoever is known?" He then cautioned against interpreting his remarks as a confirmation.

The press asserted that the anti-Semitic campaign would be introduced shortly in Slovakia, an autonomous province of Czechoslovakia, which would adopt the "Nuremberg Jew laws."

In Berlin pressure was being applied to collect the assessment costs against the Jews for Nazi riot damage. Rapid Aryanization of Jewish business was also being pushed.

Tanganika Opposed
Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's statement proposing partial solution of the Jewish refugee problem by settlement of Jews in Tanganyika brought instant opposition.

"Strange it is that again Tanganyika, in former German East Africa, was mentioned as a place for the settlement of Jews as though there were no other possibilities in the whole far flung British empire," the newspaper Tageblatt said.

"One asks why Chamberlain made only a passing remark regarding British Kenya and remained completely silent regarding Uganda."

"The British government has the right to freely dispose of the two last named territories but it is well-known that it is the opposite in the case of the mandated territory of Tanganyika."

The Voelkischer Beobachter said that Britain was "finally ready to open parts of the British empire to Jews and it must be generally welcomed. However Chamberlain added too many ifs and when."

"We cannot see why this gigantic, sparsely populated empire can take only a number of German Jews." Also the financing of Jewish resettlement ought not to present serious difficulties in view of the vast Jewish wealth in the world."

New Camps Prepared
New concentration camps were being built and it appeared that until mass emigration could be accomplished, an ever larger number of Jews would be confined in them.

The newest camp has been established on the site of the old military cantonment at Atmarhegg on the German-Slovak frontier near where the March river flows into the Danube.

Inmates of that camp, according to Jewish quarters in Vienna, are being used for irrigation work and river regulation.

Another concentration camp has been established at Mauthausen in the upper Danube. To this camp are being sent Jews of the more "criminal type." They are being worked in a stone quarry near the Danube.

It was reported in Vienna that in all camps the Nazis have introduced racial principles. Jews are being separated from non-Jewish prisoners.

Star of David Ordered
"To 'stylize' the Jews, Nazis ordered Jewish doctors to post the 'yellow' star of David, symbol of the medieval ghettos, on their office doors."

The star appears on a blue background. Underside was printed "for medical treatment of Jews only."

Jewish physicians will be forbidden to treat Aryans, the licenses of Jewish pharmacists will be annulled, Jewish lawyers may represent only Jewish clients, while Aryans employing Jewish lawyers may be severely punished.

Jewish judges will be dismissed, the newspaper said. Under the laws Jewish bankers and shop owners may only cater to Jewish clients and patrons and all Jewish business enterprises must be clearly labelled.

Jewish real estate will be subject to expropriation. Jews will be eliminated from the press and cultural life. Slovakian Jews who "worked against Slovak unity" will be deprived of citizenship and

AT THE GRAND

The four Mills Brothers, appearing at the Grand theatre on Wednesday and Thursday have recently returned from Europe, where they were acclaimed by royalty and public alike as the most unusual and outstanding American group of novelty entertainers to ever visit foreign shores.

Just four boys and a guitar but collectively their music rivals that of a full orchestra. Originators of the art of imitating musical instruments by voice manipulations, the four Mills Brothers have often been copied but never successfully duplicated.

Coming to the Grand direct from New York's Great White Way and their recent record breaking tour of the Continent, the four Mills Brothers are introducing their unusual version of "The Lambeth Walk," based on the dance craze of the same name which is now sweeping London as well as the United States.

On the screen will be Don Ameche in "Gateway."

AT THE CLIFTONA

All the thrills, danger and romance of life on the North West Frontier of India will be brought to the screen of the Cliftona Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday when "Drums," Alexander

Korda's magnificent technicolor production, begins a two day engagement there.

Sabu, the sensational child star of "Elephant Boy" fame, is featured with Raymond Massey, Roger Livesey, Desmond Tester and Valerie Hobson at the head of a cast of 3,000 in this exciting cavalcade of empire building, photographed in natural color in nature's most dramatic setting.

The stirring story casts Sabu as a brave young Indian prince who, with the help of his Scottish drummer boy pal, is able to foil the fiendish plotting of his power-mad uncle, Prince Ghul, forestall the wholesale slaughter of British troops, which Ghul had planned as the bloody climax of a five-day ceremonial feast, and regain his own rightful place on the throne.

The breath-taking realism which marks the battle scenes and the scenes of Indian tribal life was achieved by invading India's treacherous Khyber Pass, territory which no motion picture camera had ever penetrated.

AT THE CIRCLE

Most unique college comedy to come along in years is "Brother Rat," a story of life at Virginia Military Institute, now showing at the Circle. There's no dancing, no singing, and in the one

FREDDIE'S AUNT WINS LONG FIGHT FOR HIS CUSTODY

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22—(UP)

—Another battle for custody of Freddie Bartholomew, the little Lord Fauntleroy of the screen, and his $100,000 a year earnings ended today in a victory for his Aunt Cissy.

The district court of appeals denied the plea of the 14 year old actor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Llewellyn Bartholomew of London, to cancel the aunt's adoption papers. The Bartholomews charged fraud. They contended they had agreed to the adoption only with the understanding that it could be dissolved at any time they thought best for Freddie's interests.

The decision they sought to void was one handed down last year by Superior Judge Robert H. Scott giving the aunt entire control of Freddie and his earnings. Previously Miss Millicent Bartholomew had custody only of the boy's person, while a bank handled his money. The parents had received 10 percent of Freddie's income under the old agreement.

Thursday is a National Holiday and business in Ashville will be near a standstill. Schools are dismissed for both Thursday and Friday; banks and grain elevators will be closed for the day and most other business places will be operating on a part time schedule. And the churches: Lutherans will hold services at 9 in the morning; United Brethren Wednesday evening at 7:30; Methodists have made no plans as yet for services; Church of Christ in Christian Union, no announcement.

The telephone office at periods during the day is a very busy place, the evening being the busiest. And of all the seven days of the week, for some cause not discovered yet, Tuesday is the busiest day of them all. The operators do their very best to give good service to the phone patrons, whose number is thought to be at an all-time peak.

A. B. and Mrs. Cooper have returned home from their trip to Toronto, Canada. They visited and were especially interested in a private game preserve for wild geese and ducks. The birds are there by the thousands and great numbers of them are caught and banded, the band bearing the name of the one who placed the band. Many letters are received from where the banded birds have been taken and usually at long distances away. Thousands of wild geese visit each year the rice plantation of Vernon Peters at Welsh, La.

The village council was in session Monday evening and transacted no business except the paying of current bills. An ordinance to regulate the sale of goods by peddlers and agents was under discussion but no definite action taken.

Knowing as we all do that Clark Cline is no prevaricator, the pheasant story he tells is much different than the ordinary one and classified as news. Up the pike to the North a mile or so, a "No Hunting" sign is posted in a farm field and "True or Not" two cock pheasants were by this sign defying the world "to shoot if you dare." And we yet contend that Clark always tells the truth and that these pheasants were actually where Clark said they were.

And of all the seven days of the week, for some cause not discovered yet, Tuesday is the busiest day of them all. The operators do their very best to give good service to the phone patrons, whose number is thought to be at an all-time peak.

A. B. and Mrs. Cooper have returned home from their trip to Toronto, Canada. They visited and were especially interested in a private game preserve for wild geese and ducks. The birds are there by thousands and great numbers of them are caught and banded, the band bearing the name of the one who placed the band. Many letters are received from where the banded birds have been taken and usually at long distances away. Thousands of wild geese visit each year the rice plantation of Vernon Peters at Welsh, La.

The village council was in session Monday evening and transacted no business except the paying of current bills. An ordinance to regulate the sale of goods by peddlers and agents was under discussion but no definite action taken.

Knowing as we all do that Clark Cline is no prevaricator, the pheasant story he tells is much different than the ordinary one and classified as news. Up the pike to the North a mile or so, a "No Hunting" sign is posted in a farm field and "True or Not" two cock pheasants were by this sign defying the world "to shoot if you dare." And we yet contend that Clark always tells the truth and that these pheasants were actually where Clark said they were.

QUESTION: What's the one car you can recognise at a glance?

QUESTION: What's the one car that has protected its owners against radical style changes?

Answer to both questions: PACKARD!

If you want the car you buy to look smart and stay smart...

If you'd rather people would know, not guess at, the kind of car you're driving...

Then there's only one 1939 car you can consider seriously—a Packard. For Packard offers you beauty plus individuality. Packard, alone, offers you cars that are recognizable at a glance.

And from Packard you can be sure of getting a car built to a proven policy of protecting the owner against radical style changes.

COUNTY TO BUY RUGGLES PLANT FOR MACHINERY

Public Hearing Arranged For Dec. 27; Resolution Wins Approval

2.82 ACRES INCLUDED

Building Used Many Years As Center Of Big Pork Business

A building that many years ago housed a pork packing business that was regarded as one of the largest in Ohio may soon become the property of Pickaway county to be used for storage of county highway department cars, trucks, road equipment and supplies.

The commissioners Monday voted a resolution which will lead to purchase of the Ruggles building between Main and High streets on Canal street. The resolution authorizes Auditor Forrest Short to advertise for a public hearing Dec. 27 at 10 a. m. Purchase of the building was recommended by Engineer Harry Griner, who believes that the county will be able to save much money by having all its supplies in a central location instead of scattered about in many different places.

The property being sought by the commissioners includes a large building which covers part of 2.82 acres of land. In recent years the structure has been used for storage, several different firms including the Ralston-Purina Co., Given Oil Co., the Pumpkin Show society, leasing parts of it.

The building was erected many years ago, the late Samuel H. Ruggles starting to operate it in 1852 as a packing house. For many years the Ruggles packing interests were among the largest in Ohio, pork in great quantities being distributed from the plant. Packing was ended there shortly after the turn of the century, a cigar factory being operated for some time.

The Dec. 27 hearing on purchase of the property will be conducted in the office of the commissioners.

Doctors Seek Normalcy For Handicapped Child

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Psychologists believed today that within two years they could make a normal child of six year old Annabelle Barton, who has spent most of her life isolated in one room with her mute mother, communicating in a sign language only they understand.

The mother, Addie Belle Barton, 26, and the child, were separated today for the first time. Annabelle was in the Children's hospital, being prepared for an operation to straighten her bowed legs. Psychologists from Ohio State university undertook to teach her to speak, but so far the child regarded them only with stares.

The mother, who is unmarried, was cared for by relatives at Mt. Vernon. Her grandmother explained that she had been a mute since the age of two, when she was struck in the eye with a shot from a B-B gun and was so terrified by the sight of an x-ray machine in a doctor's office that she lost her speech.

Remained Secluded

Ever since the child was born out of wedlock, Miss Barton had remained secluded in a bedroom of her parents' home. Neighbors did not know of the child's existence. Miss Barton's grandmother said that "sometimes in the night, I have heard noises in her room and thought somebody was there, but when I went in to see, I found her talking in her sleep, saying words I could not understand."

The child understood these sounds, and the signs by which she and her mother communicated.

Authorities first learned of the case several months ago when the mother ventured from the house and visited Dr. Robert Eastman, a Mt. Vernon surgeon, at his office. She gesticulated mutely until the doctor understood that she wanted him to straighten her child's bowed legs. Oliver Farmer, probation officer, said he was still puzzled as to how the mother found her way to Dr. Eastman "when she hardly ever set foot outside the one room of the house."

Case Report Made

Dr. Eastman made a report on the case but nothing had been done about it until seven weeks ago, when the mother again left her parent's home, carrying the child with her to Dr. Eastman. The family at first opposed turning the

BETTE'S HUBBY TO ASK DIVORCE, SHE DECLARES

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Movie Star Bette Davis announced today that her husband was going to get a divorce. It established a new social precedent in the movie colony.

Her husband is Harmon O. Nelson, a musician and former band leader. They have been estranged for almost a month.

Miss Davis sent a telegram to the newspapers, saying:

"There will not be any reconciliation. Harmon will apply for a divorce."

In the same manner she made this announcement on Sept. 27: "Ham and I have definitely decided to take a vacation from each other."

The reason advanced by friends then was "incompatibility." The divorce, it was presumed, will be for the same reason. Nelson moved into the home of a business associate last month and Miss Davis remained in their Coldwater canyon villa in the hills over Hollywood.

Most divorces in publicity-conscious Hollywood are obtained unobtrusively. The usual procedure is for the wife to file the suit. Miss Davis married Nelson at Yuma, Ariz., on Aug. 20, 1932 two years after she entered the films but before she became a star.

As a petulant blonde she rapidly made a name for herself in highly dramatic roles. She was given the Motion Picture Academy award in 1935 for her part in the picture, "Dangerous."

Miss Davis has been in several squabbles with her studio regarding her roles and her salary.

MILLER, SERVICE COMMITTEE TALK OF SEWER TAPS

Council's service committee met with L. E. Miller, service director, Monday night, to discuss proposed legislation for the installation of sewer taps.

When some of the resurfaced streets are opened for sewers the dirt returned in the trenches is not tamped properly, the service director said. This results in a delay in patching the street to its original condition. It is proposed that a bond be required of contractors to cover this work. Members of the service committee favored the plan and it will be discussed with Carl C. Leist, city solicitor, to prepare legislation.

Members of the service commit-

FINANCING THROUGH TERROR

THE impression grows, among world observers, that the great Nazis pogrom with its burning and looting, its general terror and crowding of the prisons and concentration camps, with innocent victims, was primarily a financial coup.

This view seems logical, from the government's action and the order of events. There seemed to be an understanding between the public and the police authorities throughout the country. The general riots started almost simultaneously and obviously had official sanction. They were allowed to run a certain length of time, then the police intervened to restore order. The arrests were carried out promptly and systematically, as if orders had been previously issued. The immediate announcement of penalties, including the collection of the owners' insurance money by the government, and on top of that the $400,000,000 "fine" on the whole Jewish population, suggested careful planning.

It seems as if the Nazi government, always hard up because of its concentration of resources and labor on armament, had got itself into a worse financial jam than usual, and planned this levy on the Jews for temporary easement. If so, then the economic situation of Germany must be worse than the world has suspected, and the surrender of the democracies at Munich seems even less necessary than it appeared at the time.

SLACKS IN COURT

GRAVE questions are raised by the action of the Los Angeles judge who sent a girl to jail for wearing slacks in court.

His Honor did this on the ground that such apparel was immodest, indecent, and an insult to judicial dignity. He seems to have conceded that it might be excusable in some situations, but not in public and certainly not in a courtroom.

Opinions, both lay and legal, may differ about that. It does seem rather odd that such fierce condemnation should be visited upon a garment said to be worn now almost universally in Los Angeles, familiar in public places and indeed almost anywhere except in church.

It can't be a moral question, anyway. As a discerning critic remarks, it is really a question of esthetics — of whether it looks attractive.

Courts, though, are different from other places, and there is usually a considerable lag in judicial acceptance of innovations. There was a time when all judges wore gowns, and it was considered very daring and subversive when they began to appear on the bench in trousers.

The more those Nazi supermen fail, the harder they punish the Jews.

Came a long distance call from Springfield, Phil Chackeres being on the other end of the line and announcing that he had taken over the Grand theatre. Phil is one of the best known theatre men in Ohio and promises the ville much, including an ultra modern theatre to be erected in the Spring. He has been interested in Circleville for several years and now finally lands here.

Still hear reverberations of wails that went up at the Ohio State stadium Saturday when Michigan registered its first victory over the Bucks in many long years. Seems as though most of the State fans expect to have a championship team every year. Well, that is just not possible. Some lean must be taken with the fat. Why, I remember when Chicago year after year mopped up everything in the conference, and now the Maroons are lucky to get out of a game with part of their uniforms. State had a good team this year, but three or four other schools in the conference had better teams. And I don't think it any disgrace for a college team to lose a football game.

Jim Trimmer, who drives a truck for the Circleville Oil Co., did very well for himself. On the opening day of hunting season he took to the field and shot all except one of a box of shells. A couple of days ago Jim remembered the single shell and thought he might as well shoot that, too. So he took to the field. A pair of cock pheasants flushed ahead of him and then swung into line. Jim fired and both dropped. A 1938 record, I call it.

HEAVY NEW YORK MEMBERSHIP

WASHINGTON—One little-noticed problem the President faces in streamlining his Cabinet may play a decisive part in the selection of new members. This is the matter of too much representation from New York, the President's home State.

At present there are three New Yorkers in the Cabinet, Jim Farley, Henry Morgenthau and Miss Perkins. And they are going to stay in the Cabinet, despite the recurring rumors of their early departure. None has any intention of resigning, and Roosevelt does not contemplate asking them. If Miss Perkins should quit voluntarily he wouldn't try to stop her. Privately he might like to replace her, but he will make no move to do so forcibly.

From time to time Farley has talked about getting out because of strained personal finances. But the $75,000 he got recently for his political memoirs cleared the skies, and with his eye on 1940, Jim is sticking around. Morgenthau would leave only if Roosevelt asked him to leave. There is little likelihood of that ever happening.

Thus with three New Yorkers already in the Cabinet, the President must think twice before adding any more. And that puts him in a dilemma because the two lieutenants he is most anxious to elevate, Solicitor General Robert Jackson and Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, have their political roots in New York, although born in Pennsylvania and Iowa, respectively.

GEOGRAPHIC HITCH

Were it not for this factor, Jackson, young liberal, outstanding in four years with the Justice Department, would be as certain to step into Cummings' shoes as day follows night. But because of the geographic problem, it is quite possible that Roosevelt will decide to give the prize to Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, who went down in the recent election.

In ability and crusading fervor there is little difference between the two men. Also, like Jackson, Murphy is one of the President's band of left-wing intimates who have been trying to pry open a Cabinet place for him for a long time.

Significant of the President's indecision is his silence. He hasn't said a word to either Jackson or Murphy about the Attorney Generalship.

HOPKINS PREFERRED

In a choice between Hopkins or Jackson going into the Cabinet, Hopkins will get the preference.

The bond between the WPA boss and the President is very strong. Next to son Jimmy, the President is more warmly attached to Hopkins than to any other man. Because of this, when Commerce Secretary Dan Roper is finally pried loose from the government payroll it's a good bet that despite the geographic handicap Hopkins will get the job.

It is also a very good bet that Roper will be out before the boys on Capitol Hill open their batteries on the WPA. Roper's statement last week that he was not contemplating resignation should be taken with a large grain of salt. He is on his way to a long overdue exit, and the chances are very good that he will make it before the first of the year.

Complexities of System Make Nerve Ills

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE NERVOUS system functions on different levels. The lowest and simplest level is the spinal cord, where a single nerve sends out a fiber to a single nerve. Higher are the sensory and motor ganglia—the thalami and cerebellum—and highest of all is the brain.

All of these are made up of cells which, with some little variation in structure, are essentially similar. They consist of a cell body from which a number of fibers go out. The fibers from one cell contact the fibers of other cells, setting up nerve impulses. This is what constitutes nervous activity, no matter whether it is the higher activity of thinking or the lower activity of instinctively pulling away the fingers from a burning match.

Can't Conceive Them

It is impossible for the finite mind of man to conceive of the infinite complexities of that finite mind of his. The mere number of individual cells in your central nervous system is incalculable. Space spreads around us to infinity filled with stars. Yet, all the stars you can see on the brightest night, including the Milky Way, are nothing as to the number of cells in your cerebrum. And all of these are constantly contacting each other, resulting in different forms of nervous activity. It has been estimated that if all the possible contacts of the cells of the central nervous system of one individual were made at the rate of ten a second, it would require a million years to complete them. Truly there is a concrete anatomical basis for the relationship implied by Kant—that his faith in God was renewed by contemplating the starry heavens above and the moral law, the sense of duty, within.

With a set of functions of such complexity, it is no wonder that switches are often thrown the wrong way and that things go wrong. Disorders of the nervous system are the most frequently known. Foremost are the disorders of the mind. Mental patients occupy more beds in American hospitals than those of all other kinds of patients put together.

Brain Patterns Differ

Indeed, so complex is the activity of the higher centers that no one can define exactly where insanity begins. No one person's brain pattern is the same as anyone's else. Certainly no one uses his brain cells as anyone else does. "Everyone's queer but three and me," said the old Quakeress, "and there's a little queer." And before we come to the actual level of recognizable insanity, there are all the variations of emotional disturbances, including hysteria and nervous prostration, alcoholism, liars, misers, kleptomaniacs and plain eccentricity.

Now, if the nerve physiologist could see one of the deranged brains in action, with all the cells magnified to gigantic size, and compare it to what could be called a fairly normal brain, he would probably observe no essential difference in its anatomical actions. The cells would be making contacts and completing reflex arcs, and initiating nerve impulses just like the normal. There would be nothing in these discharges that would give him an inkling of the enormous difference that is translated into conduct.

So our means of treatment must be, necessarily, crude and disappointing.

But there is an optimistic side. In the course of time most of these crippled minds make an adjustment that allows them to live in the world. And since all of our adjustments to life are individual, they are just as well off as the rest of us.

CHAPTER 27

NOT MANY of the dormitory students went to town that Sunday night, and of course the students who resided in town were widely scattered, so that relatively few of the collegians knew of Monday morning. Night extra editions of the papers were not sent out to the Rice campus.

But The Houston Post emblazoned it on Page 1 Monday morning, and at breakfast the talk was high. In the dormitory commons professors and students alike poured over the newspapers. The Post had even printed a picture of Bob Towne and Sara Sue Davis—snapped by a staff man in the hospital corridor—and this added still more interest. Towne, the star football end, and Mrs. Davis, whose Counsel in Romance had been a campus sensation now for some weeks.

"She must be crying," somebody remarked. "She has a handkerchief to her face."

"Probably is. Upset. Didn't know she knew Holgate. She must have been in the swimming party. Odd that, a somewhat quiet professor, rather than the athletic Towne, should have done the heroics."

"Says she and Towne just called afterward. They weren't on the party."

"Well, it's tough on Holgate. He ought to get a medal or something—if he pulls through."

The talk was incessant. People hadn't known a lot about Thornton Holgate, not even his fellow professors, but the papers had dug up his entire record. It read rather impressively, especially as to scholarship. The Rice faculty men were pleased to see a bookish scholar be physically competent to be a hero in emergency.

Dr. E. O. Lovett, Rice president, and Dr. Harry B. Weiser, dean, motored to Galveston soon after breakfast, the campus talk said. They telephoned back that Dr. Holgate was still critically ill, and was having every care. A typed report from the registrar's office was posted on the bulletin board in the administration building cloister. Bob Towne overslept—missing first class—but made a full report of the incident when he did appear. He offered no explanation of Sara Sue's interest in the affair, partly because he knew no explanation himself, but he did say that Sara Sue had spent the night in a hotel near John Sealy hospital, where she could be near the injured man. Bob also thought it unnecessary to mention the word-lacing Peaches Pomeroy had given the widow. Peaches herself showed up on the campus about noon, but added little to the information already known now.

She was talking to one group when she almost precipitated another unpleasantness, there in the main salleyport.

"The Davis person stuck her nose into it, claiming to be his sister," Peaches was saying. "She's a professional meddler! She's—"

"Why, that's a lie! That's not so!" piped up Worthington Gurley, who had been in the group. "Sara Sue Davis wouldn't do that. You're crazy yourself. You're—"

He was violating at least two technical rules. A freshman may not address an upperclass girl on the campus—the sophomores have ruled—and he was speaking disrespectfully anyway. "Scram, slime!" somebody ordered. But, at that, most of the group agreed with him. Peaches was too well known; especially the fact that the new Davis widow.

T. J. Sanders was out at the field house before noon. He couldn't pick up much talk there, though. The Negro trainer had only a few crumbs of information, and the coaches hadn't arrived for the day. T. J. went on over to Sara Sue's cottage.

"She ain't here, Mistuh T. J., Cleopatra informed him. 'But you's welcome to come in and set. I brings you a cuppa coffee, suh?'"

"Thanks, Cleo. Believe I will. When will Sara Sue return?"

"She down at Galveston, suh. Mistuh Professuh Holgate, he got hurt. You hear about all that?"

Sanders nodded. He wondered what took Sara Sue down there but reflected that it was none of his business. The thought that she might have personal concern did not occur to him. In fact, it had never occurred to anyone, not even Bob Towne or Peaches Pomeroy. Nobody knew that Sara Sue had been secretly coaching Thornton Holgate in personality development, love making and such allied arts.

"Mighty good coffee, Cleo. You're an excellent cook."

"Aw shuh now, Mistuh T. J., heh-heh!" Cleo wobbled her pleasure. And brought him coffee cake. They were alone in the cottage.

"Cleo, what does a man have to do to marry Sara Sue?" T. J. was making talk.

"Suh?"

"How can I get next to Sara Sue, and make her like me?"

"Lawd, Mistuh T. J.! You has to have oomph!"

"Oomph?"

"Yas suh! Miss Sara Sue, she quality folks. Caint nobody go jest peddlin' around with her. You knows her pappy befo' he die? She come frum ancestries."

T. J. grinned. Cleo's dialect always delighted him. And her ideas were seldom far wrong, either, he had discerned.

"I admit she's quality, Cleo. But how can I corral her for my own?"

"You thinking about making permanent marriage with her? Hones?"

"Well, it's an idea. Isn't it?"

"Sho is. Yas, suh. But is you good enough for her?"

"No, I'm sure I'm not. But—"

He really meant that, too, he reflected.

"Naw, suh. You ain't, and that's a fact. Ain't no young man good enough. But, then, it has to be some allowances made, I reckons." Cleo was quite serious about it, and so T. J. did not laugh openly.

"Bes' thing I knows is to make deep love to her all the time, suh. Jes don't never give up. I helps you all I can, suh. You rates high with my opinion."

"Sa-a-y, thanks, Cleo! That's a compliment, sure 'nough. Now listen, Cleo—suh, here's a five-dollar bill. Just between you and me. For good luck and friendship. And there might be another five-dollar bill, almost any week-end I happened to drop in like this. I figure your excellent coffee and rolls are worth that, at least. You understand, Cleo?"

"Yas, SUH! I should say I does! Thank you, suh!"

Cleo accepted and concealed the money in some cavernous recess of her great bosom, smiling broadly, happily. She poured more coffee, talking the while.

"I starts right in to help you, suh, the minute Miss Sara Sue set foot in that do'. Anything I can do, you jest calls on me, Mistuh T. J. I know she goin' be awful disappointed she miss seein' you this mornin', but you jes' come back when you can. Yasuh."

"Thanks, Cleo. You're a gem."

"Yasuh."

"Ah—Cleo."

"Suh?"

"I wonder if I happen to have much competition. That is—are any other men, boys, making serious love to Sara Sue? You know what I mean. She's so pretty and all."

"Yasuh, ain't she lovely? An' sweet! I clare to goodness, Mr. T. J., she the pretties' white girl I ever see! I been knowin' her since she was in diapers. I nurse for Mrs—"

"Yes, yes indeed, Cleo! But now as to the others—"

"Yasuh. It's some other young men likes her, too. Mistuh Bob, he got a bad case on her. And Mr. Worthington—he awful young, but he sho smitten, heh-heh! But they don't gimme as much as you does, suh."

"How?" T. J. cocked his head at that, looking quizzically at the Negroess.

"They pays me quite gen'rus to help them, too, but not no five dol-lahs, naw suh! You the onliest one what's tip me that much, suh. Have some mo' coffee, Mistuh T. J."

T. J. swallowed, mopped his brow with a handkerchief, and grinned wryly. Finally he chuckled. Well, it was his own deal, he reflected! Still grinning, he arose to go.

"Um. Well, I must be going, Cleo. Ad valorem."

"Yasuh, I sho will."

FINANCING THROUGH TERROR

THE impression grows, among world observers, that the great Nazi pogrom with its burning and looting, its general terror and crowding of the prisons and concentration camps, with innocent victims, was primarily a financial coup.

This view seems logical, from the government's action and the order of events. There seemed to be an understanding between the public and the police authorities throughout the country. The general riots started almost simultaneously and obviously had official sanction. They were allowed to run a certain length of time, then the police intervened to restore order. The arrests were carried out promptly and systematically, as if orders had been previously issued. The immediate announcement of penalties, including the collection of the owners' insurance money by the government, and on top of that the $400,000,000 "fine" on the whole Jewish population, suggested careful planning.

It seems as if the Nazi government, always hard up because of its concentration of resources and labor on armament, had got itself into a worse financial jam than usual, and planned this levy on the Jews for temporary easement. If so, then the economic situation of Germany must be worse than the world has suspected, and the surrender of the democracies at Munich seems even less necessary than it appeared at the time.

SLACKS IN COURT

GRAVE questions are raised by the action of the Los Angeles judge who sent a girl to jail for wearing slacks in court.

His Honor did this on the ground that such apparel was immodest, indecent, and an insult to judicial dignity. He seems to have conceded that it might be excusable in some situations, but not in public and certainly not in a courtroom.

Opinions, both lay and legal, may differ about that. It does seem rather odd that such fierce condemnation should be visited upon a garment said to be worn now almost universally in Los Angeles, familiar in public places and indeed almost anywhere except in church.

It can't be a moral question, anyway. As a discerning critic remarks, it is really a question of esthetics — of whether it looks attractive.

Courts, though, are different from other places, and there is usually a considerable lag in judicial acceptance of innovations. There was a time when all judges wore gowns, and it was considered very daring and subversive when they began to appear on the bench in trousers.

The more those Nazi supermen fail, the harder they punish the Jews.

He laid down the A and then played low and finessed the 9. The K took the third round and West's Q won the fourth. However, declarer's play enabled him to accomplish his purpose. Even if East held four instead of West, his play was the safest, for if West showed out, the K could have been played and only the Q would win a trick.

Playing for a finesse of the J in this situation would fail, for two tricks would have to be given up.

NOT MANY of the dormitory students went to town that Sunday night, and of course the students who resided in town were widely scattered, so that relatively few of the collegians knew of Dr. Holgate's adventure before Monday morning. Next extra editions of the papers were not sent out to the Rice campus.

But The Houston Post emblazoned it on Page 1 Monday morning, and at breakfast the talk was high. In the dormitory commons professors and students alike poured over the newspapers. The Post had even printed a picture of Bob Towne and Sara Sue Davis—snapped by a staff man in the hospital corridor—and this added still more interest. Towne, the star football end, and Mrs. Davis, whose Counsel in Romance had been a campus sensation now for some weeks.

"She must be crying," somebody remarked. "She has a handkerchief to her face."

"Probably is. Upset. Didn't know she knew Holgate. She must have been in the swimming party. Odd that a somewhat quiet professor, rather than the athletic Towne, should have done the heroics."

"Says she and Towne just called afterward. They weren't on the party."

"Well, it's tough on Holgate. He ought to get a medal or something—if he pulls through."

The talk was incessant. People hadn't known a lot about Thornton Holgate, not even his fellow professors, but the papers had dug up his entire record. It read rather impressively, especially as to scholarship. The Rice faculty men were pleased to see a bookish scholar be physically competent to be a hero in emergency.

Dr. E. O. Lovett, Rice president, and Dr. Harry B. Weiser, dean, motored to Galveston soon after breakfast, the campus talk said. They telephoned back that Dr. Holgate was still critically ill, and was having every care. A typed report from the registrar's office was posted on the bulletin board in the administration building cloister. Bob Towne overlept—missing first class—but made a full report of the incident when he did appear. He offered no explanation of Sara Sue's interest in the affair, partly because he knew no explanation himself, but he did say that Sara Sue had spent the night in a hotel near John Sealy hospital, where she could be near the injured man. Bob also thought it unnecessary to mention the word-lacing Peaches Pomeroy had given the widow. Peaches herself showed up on the campus about noon, but added little to the information already known now.

She was talking to one group when she almost precipitated another unpleasantness, there in the main sallyport.

"The Davis person stuck her nose into it, claiming to be his sister," Peaches was saying. "She's a professional meddler! She's—'Why, that's a lie—that's not so!' piped up Worthington Gurley, who had been in the group. 'Sara Sue Davis wouldn't do that. You're crazy yourself. You're—'

He was violating at least two technical rules. A freshman may not address an upperclass girl on the campus—the sophomores have ruled—and he was speaking disrespectfully anyway. "Scram, shine!" somebody ordered. But, at that, most of the group agreed with him. Peaches was too well known; especially the fact that Bob Towne had dropped her for the new Davis widow.

T. J. Sanders was out at the field house before noon. He couldn't pick up much talk there, though. The Negro trainer had only a few crumbs of information, and the coaches hadn't arrived for the day. T. J. went on over to Sara Sue's cottage.

"She ain't here, Mistuh T. J.," Cleopatra informed him. "But you's welcome to come in and set. I brings you a cuppa coffee, suh?"

"Thanks, Cleo. Believe I will. When will Sara Sue return?"

"She down at Galveston, suh. Mistuh Professor Holgate, he got hurt. You hear about all that?"

Sanders nodded. He wondered what took Sara Sue down there but reflected that it was none of his business. The thought that she might have personal concern did not occur to him. In fact, it had never occurred to anyone, not even Bob Towne or Peaches Pomeroy.

Nobody knew that Sara Sue had been secretly coaching Thornton Holgate in personality development, love making and such allied arts.

"Mighty good coffee, Cleo. You're an excellent cook."

"Aw shuh now, Mistuh T. J., heh-heh!" Cleo wobbled her pleasure. And brought him coffee cake. They were alone in the cottage.

"Cleo, what does a man have to do to win Sara Sue?" T. J. was making talk.

"Suh?"

"How can I get next to Sara Sue, and make her like me?"

"Lawd, Mistuh T. J. You has to have oomph!"

"Oomph?"

"Yas suh! Miss Sara Sue, she quality folks. Can't nobody go jest peddlin' around with her. You knows her pappy befo' he die? She come from ancestors."

T. J. grinned. Cleo's dialect always delighted him. And her ideas were seldom far wrong, either, he had discerned.

"I admit she's quality, Cleo. But how can I corral her for my own?"

"You thinking about making permanent marriage with her? Hones?"

"Well, it's an idea. Isn't it?"

"Sho is. Yas, suh. But is you good enough for her?"

"No, I'm sure I'm not. But—"

He really meant that, too, he reflected.

"Aw, suh. You ain't, and that's a fact. Ain't no young man good enough. But, then, it has to be some allowances made, I reckons." Cleo was quite serious about it, and so T. J. did not laugh openly.

"Bes' thing I knows is to make deep love to her all the time, suh. Jes don't never give up. I helps you all I can, suh. You rates high with my opinion."

"See-ay, thanks, Cleo! That's a compliment, sure 'nough. Now listen, Cleo—say, here's a five-dollar bill. Just between you and me. For good luck and friendship. And there might be another five-dollar bill, almost any week-end I happened to drop in like this. I figure your excellent coffee and rolls are worth that, at least. You understand, Cleo?"

"Yas, suh! I should say I does! Thank you, suh!"

Cleo accepted and concealed the money in some cavernous recess of her great bosom, smiling broadly, happily. She poured more coffee, talking the while.

"I starts right in to help you, suh, the minute Miss Sara Sue set foot in that do'. Anything I can do, you jest calls on me, Mistuh T. J. I know she goin' be awful disappointed she miss seein' you this mornin', but you jes' come back when you can. Yasuh."

"Thanks, Cleo. You're a gem."

"Yasuh."

"Ah—Cleo."

"Suh?"

"I wonder if I happen to have much competition. That is—any other men, boys, making serious love to Sara Sue? You know what I mean. She's so pretty and all."

"Yasuh, ain't she lovely? An' sweet! I 'clare to goodness, Mr. T. J., she the pretties' white girl I ever is see! I been knowin' her since she was in diapers. I nurse for Mrs—"

"Yes, yes indeed, Cleo! But now as to the others—"

"Yasuh! It's some other young men likes her, too. Mistuh Bob, he got a bad case on her. And Mr. Worthington—he awful young, but she sho smitten, heh-heh! But they don't gimme as much as you does, suh."

"How? T. J. cocked his head at that, looking quizzically at the Negroess."

"They pays me quite gen'rus to help them, too, but not no five dollars, naw suh! You the onliest one what's tip me that much, suh. Have some mo' coffee, Mistuh T. J.?"

T. J. swallowed, mopped his brow with a handkerchief, and grinned wryly. Finally he chuckled. Well, it was his own deal, he reflected! Still grinning, he arose to go.

"Well, I must be going, Cleo. Ad valorem."

"Yasuh, I sho will."

100 Members and Friends Attend Session

Approximately 100 members and friends gathered at Washington school, Monday, for the November session of Washington Parent-Teacher association. Forty-nine new members have been added since the October meeting making a total membership of 76.

It was announced during the business hour that the membership campaign would be continued another month, with the goal, a hundred members. Miss Harris' room will be awarded the prize for having the largest percentage of parents in the membership. John Florence, superintendent of Washington school, talked on sales tax status, stressing the necessity of each person demanding their sales tax receipt when making purchases. This is one way every one can help retain the School Foundation program.

Devotionals were in charge of Oakley Leist, high school principal.

The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. M. M. Bowman and the 4-H club girls. The first number was vocal quartet by Dorothy Schreck, Alberta May, Bonadine Rife, and Martha Bolender, the program continuing with a recitation by Norene Peters; vocal solo, Dorothy Rapp; recitation, Margaret Hill; recitation, Ann Miller; violin duet, Faye Kraft and Fairy Richards accompanied by Doris Kraft; reading, "The Story of Thread" by Margaret Goode; piano solo, Martha Bolender; club facts were presented by Dorothy Brobst, Jean Goode, Ruth Goode and Frances Ogelsbee. A piano solo by Mary Katherine Bowman completed the program.

After a few remarks on their work, F. K. Blair presented the awards.

Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and cider were served by the hospitality committee.

Williamsport Sorosis Club

About 100 were present for the open meeting of Williamsport Sorosis club, Monday, at the school auditorium, F. R. Harris, superintendent of the Greenfield schools being guest speaker.

Preceding the lecture, two numbers were sung by the boys quartet of Williamsport high school with Miss Mary G. McCollister at the piano. Members of the quartet were Charles Dreishbach, Joe Whiteside, Jr., Edward Carter and Malcolm Cupp.

Mrs. William Radcliff, club president then introduced Mr. Harris who presented an interesting talk on the topic, "Forever England". Mr. Harris spends his Summer vacations in travel, visiting England this last year. He told many interesting details of his trip, stressing the customs and peculiarities of speech which he noticed during his stay. He presented many little happenings in every day life, which seldom reach us in news reports.

Mrs. William D. Heiskill will entertain the next meeting of the club, Dec. 1. At this session the club members will have their gift exchange.

Whisler Class Party

Mrs. Edward Fetherolf entertained the members of her Sunday school class of Whisler church, Saturday. During the meeting the class organized and decided to have a monthly social session. There are 19 members in the class, 11 being present for the party.

Ann Spencer was chosen president of the class; Dwight Rector, Jr., vice president; Shirley Justus, secretary-treasurer; Betty Jo Minshall, news reporter. The class was named Willing Workers.

A. A. U. TO ACT ON MANY MARKS AT DEC. 2 MEET

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(UP)—The Amateur Athletic union will have 144 new records to act on when it convenes in Washington Dec. 2, 3 and 4, it was announced today by Paul R. Jordan, chairman of the records committee.

The list of achievements is topped by Glenn Cunningham's 4:04.4 mile around Dartmouth's indoor track last Winter. It is the fastest mile ever run indoors or out. Even if approved by the A. A. U., it never will be recognized universally, because the international Amateur Athletic Federation does not list indoor standards.

Only track record which the A. A. U. expects to advance to the I. A. A. F. for world acceptance is the 440-yard relay time of 40.5 seconds set by Southern California's team last May. This may eventually replace the accepted 40.8 mark set by another Southern California quartet in 1931.

Ralph Flanagan, Miami swimmer, was the chief record breaker, with 14 marks up for approval. The runner-up was Ben Johnson, Columbia university's diminutive Negro sprinter, with eight. Two women performers were next in line, Katherine Rawls Thompson of Miami and Halina Tomski of Detroit, with seven and six swimming records respectively.

Every inch of it says: LET'S GO!

EYE OPENER! With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $51 less than last year!

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors terms!

LOOK at it! Standing still, every inch seems itching to get going. Streaming along, as you see it here, it's the perfect picture of perfect action!

Now, just put yourself behind that wheel!

Imagine your eyes looking out over that comely, streamlined bonnet—your hand on that ready, instant-answering wheel—your foot on the gas treadle, bossing that abolest of the straight-eights!

You hardly know your engine's turning, so quietly does it pour forth its power!

The big bad bumps are like a mill pond's ripples, so smoothly dogrant coil springs level them for you!

You look out on the wide, wide world past narrower posts and through deeper, wider windshields and windows—up to 413 more square inches of safety plate glass let you see America first, last and all the time!

Comfort? You've never known the like,

what with lower floors, and wider seats, and as much as four inches more to stretch out your legs!

Convenience? It's everywhere—from a gearshift out of knee-way to a direction signal that operates by a simple flip of a switch!

An idle dream, you say? Not a bit of it! This great car's calling pointedly to you when it so plainly invites, "Step in! Let's go!"

Though bigger, though better, though more beautiful than ever, this great Buick is actually lower in price! Lower than last year—lower by far than you'd ever think to look at it—lower even than some sixes!

So, why don't you visit the nearest Buick dealer—just to see the surprising news that's written on his price tags?

100 Members and Friends Attend Session

Approximately 100 members and friends gathered at Washington school, Monday, for the November session of Washington Parent-Teacher association. Forty-nine new members have been added since the October meeting making a total membership of 76.

It was announced during the business hour that the membership campaign would be continued another month, with the goal, a hundred members. Miss Harris' room will be awarded the prize for having the largest percentage of parents in the membership.

John Florence, superintendent of Washington school, talked on sales tax standards, stressing the necessity of each person demanding their sales tax receipt when making purchases. This is one way everyone can help retain the School Foundation program.

Devotionals were in charge of Oakley Leist, high school principal. The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. M. M. Bowman and the 4-H club girls. The first number was vocal quartet by Dorothy Schreck, Alberta May, Bonadine Rife, and Martha Boller. The program continuing with a recitation by Norene Peters; vocal solo, Dorothy Rapp; recitation, Margaret Hill; recitation, Ann Miller; violin duet, Faye Kraft and Fairy Richards accompanied by Doris Kraft; reading, "The Story of Thread" by Margaret Goode; piano solo, Martha Boller; club facts were presented by Dorothy Brobst, Jean Goode, Ruth Goode and Frances Ogelsbe. A piano solo by Mary Katherine Bowman completed the program.

After a few remarks on their work, F. K. Blair presented the awards.

Pumpkin pie with whipped cream and cider were served by the hospitality committee.

Williamsport Sorosis Club

About 100 were present for the open meeting of Williamsport Sorosis club, Monday, at the school auditorium, F. R. Harris, superintendent of the Greenfield schools being guest speaker.

Preceding the lecture, two numbers were sung by the boys quartet of Williamsport high school with Miss Mary G. McCollister at the piano. Members of the quartet were Charles Dreisbach, Joe Whiteside, Jr., Edward Carter and Malcolm Cupp.

Mrs. William Radcliff, club president then introduced Mr. Harris who presented an interesting talk on the topic, "Forever England". Mr. Harris spends his Summer vacations in travel, visiting England this last year. He told many interesting details of his trip, stressing the customs and peculiarities of speech which he noticed during his stay. He presented many little happenings in every day life, which seldom reach us in news reports.

Mrs. William D. Heiskill will entertain the next meeting of the club, Dec. 1. At this session the club members will have their gift exchange.

Whisler Class Party

Mrs. Edward Fetherolf entertained the members of her Sunday school class of Whisler church, Saturday. During the meeting the class organized and decided to have a monthly social session. There are 19 members in the class, 11 being present for the party.

Ann Spencer was chosen president of the class; Dwight Rector, Jr., vice president; Shirley Justus, secretary-treasurer; Betty Jo Minshall, news reporter. The class was named Willing Workers.

A. A. U. TO ACT ON MANY MARKS AT DEC. 2 MEET

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(UP)—The Amateur Athletic union will have 144 new records to act on when it convenes in Washington Dec. 2, 3 and 4. It was announced today by Paul R. Jordan, chairman of the records committee.

The list of achievements is topped by Glenn Cunningham's 4:04.4 mile around Dartmouth's indoor track last Winter. It is the fastest mile ever run indoors or out. Even if approved by the A. A. U., it never will be recognized universally, because the international Amateur Athletic Federation does not list indoor standards.

Only track record which the A. A. U. expects to advance to the I. A. A. F. for world acceptance is the 440-yard relay time of 40.5 seconds set by Southern California's team last May. This may eventually replace the accepted 40.8 mark set by another Southern California quartet in 1931.

Ralph Flanagan, Miami swimmer, was the chief record breaker, with 14 marks up for approval. The runner-up was Ben Johnson, Columbia university's diminutive Negro sprinter, with eight. Two women performers were next in line, Katherine Rawls Thompson of Miami and Halina Tomski of Detroit, with seven and six swimming records respectively.

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors terms!

LOOK at it! Standing still, every inch seems itching to get going. Streaming along, as you see it here, it's the perfect picture of perfect action!

Now, just put yourself behind that wheel!

Imagine your eyes looking out over that comely, streamlined bonnet—your hand on that ready, instant-answering wheel—your foot on the gas treadle, bossing that ables of the straight-eights!

You hardly know your engine's turning, so quietly does it pour forth its power!

The big bad bumps are like a mill pond's ripples, so smoothly do giant coil springs level them for you!

You look out on the wide, wide world past narrower posts and through deeper, wider windshields and windows—up to 413 more square inches of safety plate glass let you see America first, last and all the time!

Comfort? You've never known the like,

what with lower floors, and wider seats, and as much as four inches more to stretch out your legs!

Convenience? It's everywhere—from a gearshift out of knee-way to a direction signal that operates by a simple flip of a switch!

An idle dream, you say? Not a bit of it! This great car's calling pointedly to you when it so plainly invites, "Step in! Let's go!"

CHURCHES JOIN IN UNION RITES THURSDAY AT 10

Rev. Kelsey's Subject To Be "The Final Cause Of God's Goodness"

EPISCOPAL PULPIT USED

Lutheran Services Arranged For Wednesday Evening At 7 O'clock

Circleville churches will unite Thursday morning for Thanksgiving services, an annual custom in the city for many years.

The services will start at 10 o'clock in St. Philip's Episcopal church. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon on the theme "The Final Cause of God's Goodness."

The Rev. C. F. Bowman, pastor of the Methodist church, will give the scripture reading; the Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor of the Brethren church, the prayer. The Rev. L. C. Sherburne, pastor of the Episcopal church, will be in charge of the service.

Musical will consist of appropriate hymns for Thanksgiving, and a solo "Grateful, O Lord," by Roma, by Mrs. Howard Moore.

The Thanksgiving service in Trinity Lutheran church will be held Wednesday at 7 p. m. Special musical will be given by the choir. Donations of food will be distributed to needy families and the Home and Hospital. The offering will be used for local relief.

OHIO SECURITY CHIEF TO TAKE FEDERAL OFFICE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—(UP)—

Dan T. Moore, 30 year old state securities chief, who made his division a vigorous arm of the state government for the protection of the investing public, planned a return today to employment by the federal government.

Moore handed his resignation to Governor Davey with the request that it become effective Dec. 1 to enable him to take a position as head of the regional offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission in Cleveland. Whether the governor would appoint a successor for the remaining few weeks of his administration was not known.

Moore became chief of the division in June, 1937, after it had been subjected to much unfavorable criticism. He soon introduced far reaching changes and was instrumental in passage of the present Ohio securities act which gives the division much broader prosecuting powers than formerly.

Prior to his state position he was an analyst for the S. E. C. and came to Columbus highly recommended by his superiors in the federal service. It was understood that his office in Cleveland would be one of the most important S. E. C. branches. Its territory will include Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Indiana.

"Do Your Christmas Baking Early"

Christmas may seem far away, but those of us who delight in preparing holiday delicacies should not overlook the possibility of giving them as Christmas gifts. The time to prepare them is right now, because they will probably be the type that aging will improve. When these home made gifts such as jellies, fruit cakes, puddings, and cookies are attractively wrapped they will make splendid Christmas remembrances. One advantage of these gifts is that they may help to eliminate some of that last minute shopping.

Fruit cakes are always a delicacy at Christmas time, and the longer they age the better they are. There are different methods of properly accomplishing this aging. One way to give the cake the added zest and flavor which is so essential to the proper enjoyment of this delicacy is to add domestic wine or brandy. There are two methods which we might use to add the wine. First, pour it over the fruit cake at intervals of a week or ten days. Or second, wrap the cake in a cheese cloth which has been saturated with the liquid.

We have told you how to improve the flavor of your cake, but we haven't given you a recipe for one. Fruit cake recipes are numerous due to the fact that many different ingredients can be added, and depending upon the amount of money you want to spend. Since the Christmas season is a time when we have to watch our pennies, here is a recipe that will fit into your budget.

Dark Fruit Cake
1/2 C. butter
1/2 C. brown sugar
1/2 C. seeded raisins, cut in pieces
1/2 C. currants
1/2 C. citron, thinly sliced and cut in strips
1/2 C. molasses
2 eggs
2 C. milk
2 C. flour
1/2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. each, allspice and mace
1/2 tsp. clove
1/2 tsp. lemon extract

Cream butter until light and fluffy, then add sugar and continue creaming. Add beaten eggs. Sift all of the dry ingredients and save a small amount in which to dredge the fruit. Add the dry ingredients alternately with the combined molasses and milk. Lastly add the raisins, currants, citron, (dredged in flour) and lemon extract. Bake in deep cake pans 1 1/4 hours in moderately slow oven (325 degrees).

The cookie jar should be filled at this time of the year and I'm going to give you a recipe for Pfeffernuss cookies. This is a German cookie recipe and the cookies really improve with age.

Pfeffernuss
1/2 C. butter
1/2 C. lard
1/2 C. white sugar
1/2 C. brown sugar
1/2 C. maple syrup
1/2 C. cold coffee
6 C. flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. cloves
1/4 tsp. black pepper
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. allspice
1/4 tsp. anise seeds
1/2 C. chopped Brazil nuts

Cream shortenings and sugar. Add maple syrup and coffee. Sift flour, baking powder and spices together and add to liquid ingredients with nuts and anise seeds, working the last portion of the flour in with the hands if necessary. Cover and let ripen over night in refrigerator. When ready to bake, roll dough into long rolls, not more than 3/4-inch in diameter. Cut off in short bits place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake 6 to 7 minutes at 400 degrees. Makes about 3 doz. of tiny cookies

First Federal Project For Aid of Needy Began Just Five Years Ago

This week marks the anniversary of Pickaway county's entrance into federal aid projects. Five years ago at this time the county was busy preparing for the first of a series of programs planned for the aid of Circleville and Pickaway county's unemployed.

First assignments under the Civil Works Administration were made on Nov. 27, 1933. The men started to work on Nov. 28.

Pickaway county's first quota under the program was 161 men. One hundred and twenty-six reported for work the first day. State officials approval seven road improvement projects prepared by Howard Sweetman, then county engineer, for the employment of the men. These projects were prepared to take care of the road until Feb. 15, 1934.

A. J. "Jake" Dunkel, Circleville township, was the C.W.A. commissioner appointed by the county commissioners, and approved by state officials. Offices were located in the Bales building, 115 1/2 E. Main street. The county commissioners at the time were John Hay, Burr Rader and Ralph May.

Others Follow
Since the opening of C.W.A., the county has had numerous federal aid projects under F.E.R.A., W.P.A. and P.W.A.

At present the county has about 500 persons, including 70 women, on W.P.A. A reduction in the number is expected as the result of recent orders from the office of Dr. Carl Watson Ohio administrator. Future hiring will be restricted to persons who wish to be reinstated either after illness or loss of a job in private industry.

GUARDS TAKEN FROM FACTORY IN SIOUX CITY

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 22.—(UP)—National guardsmen who have been guarding the Swift and Company packing plant here since Oct. 19 when strikers clashed with police, withdrew today under orders of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel.

The governor said he believed there was no further need of keeping the troops at the plant. William R. Tice, Woodbury county sheriff, protested the withdrawal and asked Kraschel to reconsider and leave at least one or two units stationed at the plant. The troops, numbering 225, already had started to leave when he filed his protest.

Martial law had not been declared. The troops had been assigned to duty only at the plant. It has been operating on a partial basis since they assumed charge. The Packing House Workers committee, affiliate of the Congress for Industrial Organizations, called the strike early in October, charging that the company had refused to meet with a union grievance committee. The plant normally employs 700 men. All negotiations for settlement of the strike have failed.

CHURCHES JOIN IN UNION RITES THURSDAY AT 10

Rev. Kelsey's Subject To Be
"The Final Cause Of God's Goodness"

EPISCOPAL PULPIT USED

Lutheran Services Arranged
For Wednesday Evening
At 7 O'clock

Circleville churches will unite Thursday morning for Thanksgiving services, an annual custom in the city for many years.

The services will start at 10 o'clock in St. Philip's Episcopal church. The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon on the theme "The Final Cause of God's Goodness."

The Rev. C. F. Bowman, pastor of the Methodist church, will give the scripture reading; the Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor of the Brethren church, the prayer. The Rev. L. C. Sherburne, pastor of the Episcopal church, will be in charge of the service.

Music will consist of appropriate hymns for Thanksgiving, and a solo "Grateful, O Lord," by Roma, by Mrs. Howard Moore.

The Thanksgiving service in Trinity Lutheran church will be held Wednesday at 7 p. m. Special music will be given by the choir. Donations of food will be distributed to needy families and the Home and Hospital. The offering will be used for local relief.

OHIO SECURITY CHIEF TO TAKE FEDERAL OFFICE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—(UP)—Dan T. Moore, 30 year old state securities chief, who made his division a vigorous arm of the state government for the protection of the investing public, planned a return today to employment by the federal government.

Moore handed his resignation to Governor Davey with the request that it become effective Dec. 1 to enable him to take a position as head of the regional office of the Securities and Exchange Commission in Cleveland. Whether the governor would appoint a successor for the remaining few weeks of his administration was not known.

Moore became chief of the division in June, 1937, after it had been subjected to much unfavorable criticism. He soon introduced far reaching changes and was instrumental in passage of the present Ohio securities act which gives the division much broader prosecuting powers than formerly.

Prior to his state position he was an analyst for the S. E. C. and came to Columbus highly recommended by his superiors in the federal service. It was understood that his office in Cleveland would be one of the most important S. E. C. branches. Its territory will include Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Indiana.

"Do Your Christmas Baking Early"

Christmas may seem far away, but those of us who delight in preparing holiday delicacies should not overlook the possibility of giving them as Christmas gifts. The time to prepare them is right now, because they will probably be the type that aging will improve. When these home made gifts such as jellies, fruit cakes, puddings, and cookies are attractively wrapped they will make splendid Christmas remembrances. One advantage of these gifts is that they may help to eliminate some of that last minute shopping.

Fruit cakes are always a delicacy at Christmas time, and the longer they age the better they are. There are different methods of properly accomplishing this aging. One way is to give the cake the added zest and flavor which is so essential to the proper enjoyment of this delicacy is to add domestic wine or brandy. There are two methods which we might use to add the wine. First, pour it over the fruit cake and let it stand for a week or ten days. Or second, wrap the cake in a cheese cloth which has been saturated with the liquid.

We have told you how to improve the flavor of your cake, but we haven't given you a recipe for one. Fruit cake recipes are numerous due to the fact that many different ingredients can be added, and depending upon the amount of money you want to spend. Since the Christmas season is a time when we have to watch our pennies, here is a recipe that will fit into your budget.

Dark Fruit Cake

- 1/2 C. butter
- 1/2 C. brown sugar
- 1/2 C. seeded raisins, cut in pieces
- 1/2 C. currants
- 1/2 C. citron, thinly sliced and cut in strips
- 1/2 C. molasses
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 C. milk
- 2 C. flour
- 1/2 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. each, allspice and mace
- 1/2 tsp. clove
- 1/2 tsp. lemon extract

Cream butter until light and fluffy, then add sugar and continue creaming. Add beaten eggs. Sift all of the dry ingredients and add a small amount in which to dredge the fruit. Add the dry ingredients alternately with the combined molasses and milk. Lastly add the raisins, currants, citron, (dredged in flour) and lemon extract. Bake in deep cake pans 1 1/4 hours in moderately slow oven (325 degrees).

The cookie jar should be filled at this time of the year and I'm going to give you a recipe for Pfeffernuss cookies. This is a German cookie recipe and the cookies really improve with age.

Pfeffernuss

- 1/2 C. butter
- 1/2 C. lard
- 1/2 C. white sugar
- 1/2 C. brown sugar
- 1/2 C. maple syrup
- 1/2 C. cold coffee
- 6 C. flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. cloves
- 1/4 tsp. black pepper
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. allspice
- 1/4 tsp. anise seeds
- 1/2 C. chopped Brazil nuts

Cream shortenings and sugar. Add maple syrup and coffee. Sift flour, baking powder and spices together and add to liquid ingredients with nuts and anise seeds, working the last portion of the flour in with the hands if necessary. Cover and let ripen over night in refrigerator. When ready to bake, roll dough into long rolls, not more than 3/4-inch in diameter. Cut off in short bits place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake 5 to 7 minutes at 400 degrees. Makes about 3 doz. of tiny cookies.

Dec. 1. Judge Gorman was defeated in the recent election.

First Federal Project For Aid of Needy Began Just Five Years Ago

This week marks the anniversary of Pickaway county's entrance into federal aid projects. Five years ago at this time the county was busy preparing for the first of a series of programs planned for the aid of Circleville and Pickaway county's unemployed.

First assignments under the Civil Works Administration were made on Nov. 27, 1933. The men started to work on Nov. 28.

Pickaway county's first quota under the program was 161 men. One hundred and twenty-six reported for work the first day. State officials approval seven road improvement projects prepared by Howard Sweetman, then county engineer, for the employment of the men. These projects were prepared to take care of the load until Feb. 15, 1934.

FAMOUS NEGRO SINGERS APPEAR IN CITY DEC. 1

An outstanding musical program will be presented in Circleville Dec. 1 when the Music Lovers club of Columbus, comprised of 45 Negro voices, appears at the St. Paul A. M. E. church. Mrs. Mary Lou Henderson, pastor of the A.M.E. church, said Tuesday that numerous Circleville businessmen and individuals are contributing to the fund necessary to bring the singers to Circleville.

The choral organization, directed by Helen Carter Moses, recently won a $100 prize in a central Ohio musical festival. Its members are outstanding singers taken from the various Negro churches in Columbus.

A varied program of spirituals, classics and standard music will be sung.

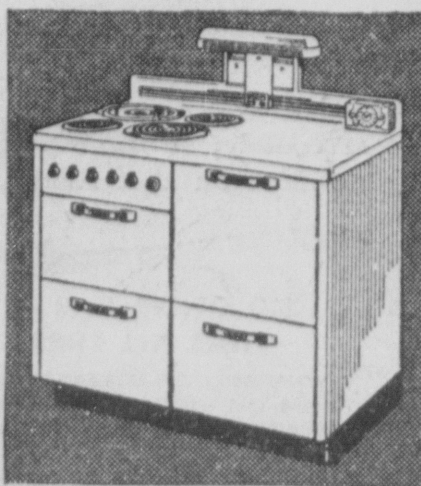

Mrs. Henderson expects the musical program to be one of the most outstanding ever offered in Circleville.

STEVE ANDRAKO, 1938 SUB CENTER, TO LEAD BUCKEYES IN NEXT CAMPAIGN

STATE VARSITY SURPRISES WITH ITS SELECTION

Choice Of Captain Shows That Charlie Maag May Go To Tackle

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—(UP)—Steve Andrako, a curly-headed young man with a bashful smile and a fighting heart, achieved today the highest ambition of his football career—the captaincy of the 1939 Ohio State football team.

His selection as next year's leader by the 31 Bucks awarded letters for their 1938 gridiron performances was a fine tribute to the staying qualities of the New Braddock, Pa., boy who failed to start an Ohio State game this fall.

Steve played understudy at center in 1937, his first year as a Buck, to the great Ralph Wolf, co-captain of that year's eleven. This fall Steve returned to school as the No. 1 choice for center only to find himself shunted aside by the fine early season showing of sophomore Charlie Maag.

But Steve kept plugging, in practice and in his frequent game opportunities reached the best playing form of his career against Michigan last Saturday.

His election Monday night probably foreshadowed the transfer of the giant Maag to a tackle position next fall. Co-captain Carl Kaplanoff, Alex Schoenbaum and Joe Aleskus, ranking tackles on the 1937 squad, are all seniors. Only 10 of the 31 letter winners, however, will be graduated this year.

The remaining 21 will form the experienced nucleus of next year's squad to be bulwarked by what Line Coach Ernie Godfrey pronounced "the best freshmen squad in the last 10 years."

The yearling players, introduced at the appreciation dinner Monday night, ran deep in quantity and quality at the tackle and end positions, where the 1939 squad will need the most replacements.

George Trautman, president of the American Association baseball league and member of the Ohio State athletic board, presided at the dinner and paid tribute to Kaplanoff and Mike Kabealo, the retiring captains. Coach Francis Schmidt described the last season when the Bucks dropped three games as "fairly good."

George N. Cole, a substitute on the first Ohio State football team in 1891, was awarded an honorary "O" by the athletic board.

The 1938 monogram winners:

Joe Aleskus, Columbus; Andrako; Ross Bartsch, Orrville; Keith Bliss, Columbus; Harvey Bolser, Lockland; Bill Bullock, Kent; Frank Clair, Hamilton; Forrest Fordham, Toledo; Charles Gales, Niles; Jerome Grundies, Cleveland; Ed Hofmayer, Columbus; Kabealo, Youngstown; Kaplanoff, Bucyrus; Jim Langhurst, Willard; Wendell Lohr, Massillon; Maag, Sandusky; Vic Marino, Youngstown; Bill Nosker, Columbus; Esco Sarkkinen, Fairport; Schoenbaum, Huntington, W. Va.; Don Scott, Canton; Frank Smith, Columbus; Jim Sexton, Middletown; Jerry Spears, Columbus; Jim Strausbaugh, Chillicothe; Tom Welbaum, Akron; Claude White, Portsmouth; Stu Whitehead, Columbus; Richard Wuellner, Columbus; Frank Zadworney, Cleveland; and Louis Young, Massillon.

COACH IN FIRST LOOK AT SCHOOL CAGE HOPEFULS

Coach Roy Black took the first look at his cage hopefuls Monday evening when nearly 50 of them worked out in the gymnasium. The drill was a long one with passing and shooting being featured.

The Red and Black mentor has two lettermen to build around. They are Whitey Davis and Paul Walters. Warren Bumgarner, a star in Washington C. H. last year and elected to serve as captain for this year's team in the Fayette city, looked good in the practice and will probably knock off a starting post.

The battle for positions on the varsity and reserve squads is expected to be heated with many good boys available. The coach expects to carry about 25 on his squad.

Cooking at Cantrell Creek camp

MORE than 1,000 hunters participated in the annual deer hunt in Pisgah National forest, North Carolina, and among them were a number of radio an-thrown absolutely on their own, being obliged to pack supplies five miles from the nearest road to the Cantrell Creek camp—and naturally the lads were hungry.

MYTHICAL TEAM LISTS GRIDDERS OF FIVE SQUADS

Buckeyes Rate No Better Than Honorable Mention On U. P. Selections

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—(UP)—It was a dizzy Big Ten football season and the 1938 all-conference squad selected today by the United Press reveals the reason.

Five teams completely dominated the two honor rolls. Not since 1931 has there been such a balance of power which enabled the first division teams to defeat each other and keep the standings in a turmoil week after week.

The five—Minnesota's champions, Michigan, Purdue, Wisconsin, and Northwestern—each placed two men on the first team and Indiana landed the other position. It was the same with the second team, although Indiana and, sure enough, Chicago were represented.

In the first backfield were Wilbur Moore of Minnesota, Lou Brock of Purdue, Tom Harmon of Michigan and Howie Weiss of Wisconsin. All but Michigan's sophomore triple threat sensation were veterans this season, but Moore, nominated at quarterback instead of his regular right half-back position, was the only member who made last year's team.

Heikkinen Liked
The first line had Frank Petrick of Indiana and Northwestern's Capt. Cleo Diehl at the ends, Joe Mihal of Purdue and Bob Voigts, Northwestern at the tackles, Ralph Heikkinen, Michigan's all-America candidate, and Capt. Francis Twedell of Minnesota at the guards and big Jack Murray of Wisconsin at center.

Failure of the big ten to come up with a team of national importance may lead the all-America selectors to pass up conference talent, but Heikkinen, outstanding choice on last season's United Press team, could be the exception.

About This And That In Many Sports

Mr. Gilmore Entertains

Take a tip from Charles Gilmore, utility company manager and Michigan's No. 1 football fan in Circleville today: It costs money to entertain a bunch of collegians, especially when that group includes a Wolvering fullback, in this case Wally Hook, who spinnared the Buckeye line to death last Saturday afternoon.

Gil thought he would treat a bunch of son Horace's pals when they arrived in Circleville Friday afternoon, so he had a 15 pound ham done to a turn. : : : That ham lasted only a short time: : : Saturday was football day and Gil was too excited to keep count of the food that was stored away and Saturday night the boys were on their own: : : No one was out of bed until about 11 a. m. Sunday, but the boys (10 of them counting Horace) found several dozen eggs scrambled and awaiting them: : : They, too, were devoured in nothing flat; and then came Sunday dinner with a 20 pound turkey gracing the center of the table: : : The boys took their time, that is most of them, but during that time-taking the turkey became nothing but a collection of choice bones: : : Gil still doesn't know whether he satisfied their palates because the table was cleaned absolutely everytime the Michigand-

CAPTAINCY NOTHING NEW FOR YALE'S SELECTION

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22—(UP)—Serving as captain of Yale's football team next year will not be a novelty for Bill Stack, 22 year old varsity center from East Lansing, Mich.

He captained the East Lansing high school team before coming to Yale, and he led the Eli frosh eleven two years ago. Last year the 185-pound middleweight was a substitute for Bill Platt, captain of the 1938 team. Stack's fine aptitude for the pivot post caused Platt's shift to tackle this year.

Despite Yale's poor season, Head Coach Ducky Pond and his staff will be retained for another year, it was announced by Malcolm Farmer, president of the Yale A. A.

Kudo Takes Schwarz In First Show Of C.A.C. Winter Series

A small crowd of fans Monday evening, witnessed the first of a series of wrestling cards to be presented each week in the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium. Fred Nolan, of Columbus, is the matchmaker.

The evening's feature was won by Kudo, the Japanese star, in two straight falls over Schwarz, German star. Kudo, ace of the jiu jitsu art, won the first fall in 23 minutes with a Japanese wrist lock and the second in two minutes with a similar hold.

Frank Sexton, Ohio heavyweight wrestling champion from Sedalia, took tough George Legoski of Poland into camp in a single fall match in 13 minutes. A flying mare and Japanese wrist lock won the fall.

In the opening match Ike Cazzell, Texas Indian, used a series of flying mares, to toss Bob Blake, of Columbus, in 17 minutes.

Thanksgiving

FOR more than three centuries—in trial and in difficulty—the American people have held fast to the principles upon which this nation was founded.

That great blessing of our civilization has given us freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of education, and a material development and progress unmatched in history.

The American people have genuine cause for giving thanks. And Thanksgiving, so truly American, will grow in significance each year, so long as America holds fast to those ideals which have created a great nation.

The Norfolk and Western Railway joins wholeheartedly in the spirit of this season in expressing gratitude for your friendship and support.

STEVE ANDRAKO, 1938 SUB CENTER, TO LEAD BUCKEYES IN NEXT CAMPAIGN

STATE VARSITY SURPRISES WITH ITS SELECTION

Choice Of Captain Shows That Charlie Maag May Go To Tackle

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—(UP)—Steve Andrako, a curly-headed young man with a bashful smile and a fighting heart, achieved today the highest ambition of his football career—the captaincy of the 1939 Ohio State football team.

His selection as next year's leader by the 31 Bucks awarded letters for their 1938 gridiron performances was a fine tribute to the staying qualities of the New Braddock, Pa., boy who failed to start an Ohio State game this fall.

Steve played understudy at center in 1937, his first year as a Buck, to the great Ralph Wolf, co-captain of that year's eleven. This fall Steve returned to school as the No. 1 choice for center only to find himself shunted aside by the fine early season showing of Sophomore Charlie Maag.

But Steve kept plugging, in practice and in his frequent game opportunities reached the best playing form of his career against Michigan last Saturday.

His election Monday night probably foreshadowed the transfer of the giant Maag to a tackle position next fall. Co-Captain Carl Kaplanoff, Alex Schoenbaum and Joe Aleskus, ranking tackles on the 1937 squad, are all seniors. Only 10 of the 31 letter winners, however, will be graduated this year.

The remaining 21 will form the experienced nucleus of next year's squad to be bulwarked by what Line Coach Ernie Godfrey pronounced "the best freshmen squad in the last 10 years."

The yearling players, introduced at the appreciation dinner Monday night, ran deep in quantity and quality at the tackle and end positions, where the 1939 squad will need the most replacements.

George Trautman, president of the American Association baseball league and member of the Ohio State athletic board, presided at the dinner and paid tribute to Kaplanoff and Mike Kabealo, the retiring captains. Coach Francis Schmidt described the last season when the Bucks dropped three games as "fairly good."

George N. Cole, a substitute on the first Ohio State football team in 1891, was awarded an honorary "O" by the athletic board.

The 1938 monogram winners: Joe Aleskus, Columbus; Andrako; Ross Bartsch, Orrville; Keith Bliss, Columbus; Harvey Bolser, Lockland; Bill Bullock, Kent; Frank Clair, Hamilton; Forrest Fordham, Toledo; Charles Gales, Niles; Jerome Grundies, Cleveland; Ed Hofmayer, Columbus; Kabealo, Youngstown; Kaplanoff, Bucyrus; Jim Langhurst, Willard; Wendell Lohr, Massillon; Maag, Sandusky; Vic Marino, Youngstown; Bill Nosker, Columbus; Esco Sarkinen, Fairport; Schoenbaum, Huntington, W. Va.; Don Scott, Canton; Frank Smith, Columbus; Jim Sexton, Middletown; Jerry Spears, Columbus; Jim Strausbaugh, Chillicothe; Tom Welbaum, Akron; Claude White, Portsmouth; Stu Whitehead, Columbus; Richard Wuellner, Columbus; Frank Zadworney, Cleveland, and Louis Young, Massillon.

COACH IN FIRST LOOK AT SCHOOL CAGE HOPEFULS

Coach Roy Black took the first look at his cage hopefuls Monday evening when nearly 50 of them worked out in the gymnasium. The drill was a long one with passing and shooting being featured.

The Red and Black mentor has two lettermen to build around. They are Whitey Davis and Paul Walters. Warren Bumpgarner, a star in Washington C. H. last year and elected to serve as captain for this year's team in the Fayette city, looked good in the practice and will probably knock off a starting post.

The battle for positions on the varsity and reserve squads is expected to be heated with many good boys available. The coach expects to carry about 25 on his squad.

Following The Deer Hunters In Pisgah National Forest

Take radio into wilderness

Fireside decoration

Cooking at Cantrell Creek camp

MORE than 1,000 hunters participated in the annual deer hunt in Pisgah National forest, North Carolina, and among them were a number of radio announcers who interviewed the huntsmen. Miss Anna Mae Benner of Charlotte, N. C., has found a new decoration for the mantel, an eight-prong buck. Hunters were thrown absolutely on their own, being obliged to pack supplies five miles from the nearest road to the Cantrell Creek camp—and naturally the lads were hungry.

MYTHICAL TEAM LISTS GRIDDERS OF FIVE SQUADS

Buckeyes Rate No Better Than Honorable Mention On U. P. Selections

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—(UP)—It was a dizzy Big Ten football season and the 1938 all-conference squad selected today by the United Press reveals the reason.

Five teams completely dominated the two honor rolls. Not since 1931 has there been such a balance of power which enabled the first division teams to defeat each other and keep the standings in a turmoil week after week.

The five — Minnesota's champions, Michigan, Purdue, Wisconsin, and Northwestern—each placed two men on the first team and Indiana landed the other position. It was the same with the second team, although Indiana and, sure enough, Chicago were represented.

In the first backfield were Wilbur Moore of Minnesota, Lou Brock of Purdue, Tom Harmon of Michigan and Howie Weiss of Wisconsin. All but Michigan's sophomore triple threat sensation were veterans this season, but Moore, nominated at quarterback instead of his regular right half-back position, was the only member who made last year's team.

Helkinnen Liked
The first line had Frank Petrick of Indiana and Northwestern's Capt. Cleo Diehl at the ends, Joe Mihal of Purdue and Bob Voigts, Northwestern at the tackles, Ralph Helkinnen, Michigan's all-America candidate, and Capt. Francis Twedell of Minnesota at the guards and big Jack Murray of Wisconsin at center.

Failure of the big ten to come up with a team of national importance may lead the all-America selectors to pass up conference talent, but Helkinnen, outstanding choice on last season's United Press team, could be the exception.

About This And That In Many Sports

Mr. Gilmore Entertains

Take a tip from Charles Gilmore, utility company manager and Michigan's No. 1 football fan in Cincinnati today: It costs money to entertain a bunch of collegians, especially when that group includes a Wolverines fullback, in this case Wally Hook, who spindled the Buckeye line to death last Saturday afternoon. Gil thought he would treat a bunch of son Horace's pals when they arrived in Cincinnati Friday afternoon, so he had a 15 pound ham done to a turn. That ham lasted only a short time. Saturday was football day and Gil was too excited to keep count of the food that was stored away and Saturday night the boys were on their own. No one was out of bed until about 11 a. m. Sunday, but the boys (10 of them counting Horace) found several dozen eggs scrambled and awaiting them. They, too, were devoured in nothing flat; and then came Sunday dinner with a 20 pound turkey gracing the center of the table. The boys took their time, that is most of them, but during that time-taking the turkey became nothing but a collection of choice bones. Gil still doesn't know whether he satisfied their palates because the table was cleaned absolutely everytime the Michigan-

HENRY REMAINS 7 TO 5 TO WIN FROM FILIPINO

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(UP)—Henry Armstrong, lightweight and welterweight champion of the world, was a 7-5 favorite today to retain the latter crown when he meets Ceferino Garcia of the Philippines in a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The men who make the prices don't believe Hammerin' Henry suffered any ill effects from the back injury that forced postponement of the fight from Nov. 2. The badly mangled hip he received from Lou Ambers last August has healed completely.

Henry will rest today. He boxed six fast rounds against his sparring partner yesterday. He will conclude training on Wednesday. Garcia took yesterday off, but he will take a heavy workout today, then taper off with callisthenics on Thursday.

According to a noted dietitian, horse-faced girls never make good cooks, and baby-faced damsels become fat women.

JAPANESE STAR 'GRUNT' WINNER

Kudo Takes Schwarz In First Show Of C.A.C. Winter Series

A small crowd of fans Monday evening, witnessed the first of a series of wrestling cards to be presented each week in the Cincinnati Athletic Club gymnasium. Fred Nolan, of Columbus, is the matchmaker.

The evening's feature was won by Kudo, the Japanese star, in two straight falls over Schwarz, German star. Kudo, ace of the jiu jitsu art, won the first fall in 25 minutes with a Japanese wrist lock and the second in two minutes with a similar hold.

Frank Sexton, Ohio heavyweight wrestling champion from Sedalia, took tough George Legoski of Poland into camp in a single fall match in 13 minutes. A flying mare and Japanese wrist lock won the fall.

In the opening match Ike Caz-zell, Texas Indian, used a series of flying mares, to toss Bob Blake, of Columbus, in 17 minutes.

The first thing any European country needs for a good footing is plenty of arms.

Thanksgiving

FOR more than three centuries—in trial and in difficulty—the American people have held fast to the principles upon which this nation was founded.

That great blessing of our civilization has given us freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of education, and a material development and progress unmatched in history.

The American people have genuine cause for giving thanks. And Thanksgiving, so truly American, will grow in significance each year, so long as America holds fast to those ideals which have created a great nation.

The Norfolk and Western Railway joins wholeheartedly in the spirit of this season in expressing gratitude for your friendship and support.

Obituary

Florence F. Lathouse was born in Walnut Township, Pickaway County, March 10, 1905, and departed from this life November 1, 1933. She was a member of the United Brethren Church of this City. She graduated from Cincinnati High School in 1924. Was a devotee member of the Pythian Sister and Past Chief organization.

She leaves to mourn her loss her father, three sisters, Clara at home Mrs. George Mast of Washington Township and Mrs. Roy Groce of Cincinnati; two brothers, Shirley of Walnut Township, Homer of Portsmouth, Ohio; two uncles Dr. J. A. Dunkle of Indianapolis, Ind. and George C. Lathouse of Warren, Ohio; seven Nieces and one Nephew.

"Our sister we loved, has left us. She has gone to her Home above. Leaving us to carry the banner. For our sister we loved."

Some day we hope to meet her, Some day we know not when, To clasp her hand in a better land Never to part again.

The city, church and fraternal organization have lost a most sincere person.

Her life was simple and the many deeds of kindness and help she has given to her many friends will not be forgotten.

Thus, with the singer in resignation we say,

"Asleep in Jesus, O how sweet To be for such a slumber meet Such a blissful refuge be."

She was faithful to the end, and we can say "Her sun has gone down while it was yet day."

Card of Thanks

The family wishes to express their heartfelt thanks in this great time of sorrow to each and everyone for the kindness and sympathy at the death of our beloved daughter and sister. Also to Rev. T. C. Harper for his consoling words, and to M. S. Rinehart for his services.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES,
O. S. U. floriculturist

QUESTION: I noticed in one of your recent Extension publications that you mentioned the cinnamon vine. Can you tell me something more about it?

ANSWER: The cinnamon vine, Dioscorea batatas, is sometimes called the Chinese yam, the Chinese potato and even yam, although it differs from the commercial yam which we use for food. The cinnamon vine which may be grown from either the seeds or the edible rhizomes is perfectly hardy. Growing up to a height of 15 to 25 feet, its slender stems and leaves make an attractive vine for screening and shading a porch. The small white flowers are cinnamon scented. Small tubers which develop in the axis of the leaves are usually used to reproduce the plant.

QUESTION: Would the house plant known as ice plant make a satisfactory ground cover?

ANSWER: The ice plant, so far as I know, would not be satisfactory as a ground cover out of doors. If you wish an annual rather than a hardy ground cover, I would recommend the Verbena erinoides or Sanvitalia. Both of these are old-fashioned annuals which you will find listed in the larger seed catalogs.

QUESTION: I have a number of seedlings of delphiniums and other perennials which have grown from seed that I sowed during last August. Would you recommend that I leave them in the cold frame where they are or transplant them now?

ANSWER: By all means leave them in the cold frame until next Spring.

QUESTION: My evergreen bittersweet which you told me would be evergreen is losing a lot of its leaves. They are turning yellow and falling off. Is there something wrong with it? If so what can I do to save it?

ANSWER: As dry as it is this fall, many of the broadleaf evergreens such as the evergreen bittersweet (Euonymus radicans var. viridis) and others are shedding some of their lower leaves. Although it is too late to save those that have already yellowed. I believe it would be advisable to give them a heavy watering to save the remaining ones. Just this past week I saw some magnificent specimens of the evergreen bittersweet on a private estate near Cleveland. Even though they have been watered, they were losing some of their leaves owing to the excessive drought.

QUESTION: Driving out in the country the other day, I saw a shrub with flowers very much like the bittersweet, except that the outer husks were pink. Can you tell me what this might be?

ANSWER: You saw one of the cousins of the bittersweet, the Euonymus or Whoo, belonging to the same family. There are several native forms, one a trailing form, one growing about a foot high which makes an excellent ground cover in the shade, the others which are tree-like. One of these has a smooth husk, the other a warty husk. You will find all of these excellent plants under cultivation.

QUESTION: We want to plant several shade trees this fall and would like to know if it is too late to do so now.

ANSWER: You can plant shade trees any time between now and next April that the ground is not frozen. If you care to keep the ground from freezing with a mulch of straw or leaves and move the trees with a frozen ball of earth around the roots, you can move them any time during the winter.

QUESTION: Is it too late to plant shrubs?

ANSWER: Absolutely not. In fact it is just about time to start planting them, now that the leaves have shed.

A BIT OF ADVICE
As dry as it is in most parts of the state, even though we have some rain soon I recommend that every home gardener thoroughly water any plants that have been transplanted this Fall, this to include perennials, shrubs, evergreens, trees, and vines. Apply enough water to wet down at least a foot. Keep this up every 10 days or two weeks until normal rainfall moistens the ground.

QUESTION: There are a lot of little fuzzy, cottony, white things on the twigs of my white pine. Can you tell from this description what is wrong with it and what to do for it?

ANSWER: The pine bark aphid, which you apparently have, is fairly common throughout the state. If not controlled, it will greatly reduce the vitality of the tree and may eventually kill it. I believe you will find it easiest to wait until the eggs which are present now hatch early next May

NAVY STRENGTH FAR UNDER PAR IN DESTROYERS

Fewer Than 50 Modern; Fleet Also Lacks Submarines

WASHINGTON Nov. 22—(UP)—The United States' deficiency in destroyers and submarines — two classes of vessels which have been assuming increasing importance in the Japanese and Italian navies — is causing considerable concern in naval circles here.

On paper, this country has about 275 destroyers, but fewer than 50 of these are regarded as modern. In the submarine category United States has 116 vessels, but only 23 are up-to-date.

The apprehension with which naval officials regard this situation was shown in a recent remark of Rear Admiral C. H. Woodward, commandant of the Third Naval District. He said it was no secret that this country is "woefully weak" in these two classes.

Building Program Rushed

The Roosevelt administration has been trying to overcome the shortcomings in these categories. More than 65 destroyers and about 300 underwater craft are building or projected, but even when these are finished the United States will be far short of its aim — to have a naval force capable of defending the nation against an enemy power or a combination of hostile powers.

Ninety of the total number of destroyers are out of commission. Of those in actual service 60 are past the age regarded as the maximum for efficient service.

Compared with the 50 modern destroyers in the United States fleet recent statistics show that Japan has 82 that are under-age, France 61, Britain 83. Germany has only 22 under-age, according to available figures, but the close co-operation of Rome and Berlin has led some observers to take the total of Germany's and Italy's forces in computing potential military air and naval strengths.

Paper Strength Great

In the submarine class, the United States has more vessels than any of the other major powers with the possible exception of Italy. But this is only "paper" strength. Thirty-three of these no longer are in service and 30 more are afloat but beyond the efficient service age.

Best available information for other powers shows that Italy has 73 submarines under-age; France 76; Japan 44; Britain 1 and Germany 36.

In view of this nation's need for ships of the larger categories — battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers — the shortage is considered especially serious. The submarine is the principal menace to these types of vessels. Its "natural prey" is the destroyer.

The new building program will, to a large extent, make up the deficiencies but naval experts still feel more of these vessels are needed.

Obituary

Florence F. Lathouse was born in Walnut Township, Pickaway County, March 10, 1905, and departed from this life November 1, 1933. She was a member of the United Brethren Church of this City. She graduated from Circleville High School in 1924. Was a devoted member of the Pythian Sister and Past Chief organization.

She leaves to mourn her loss her father, three sisters, Clara at home Mrs. George Mast of Washington Township and Mrs. Roy Groce of Circleville; two brothers, Shirley of Walnut Township, Holmes Dr. J. A. mouth, Ohio; two nephews, Dr. J. A. Dunkle of Indianapolis, Ind. and George C. Lathouse of Warren, Ohio; seven Nieces and one Nephew.

"Our sister we loved, has left us. Some day we know not when, To clasp her hand in a better land Never to part again.

The city, church and fraternal organization have lost a most sincere person.

Her life was simple and the many deeds of kindness and help she has given to her many friends will not be forgotten.

Thus, with the singer in resignation we say,

"Asleep in Jesus, O how sweet To be for such a slumber meet. Such a blissful refuge be."

She was faithful to the end, and we can say "Her sun has gone down while it was yet day."

Card of Thanks

The family wishes to express their heartfelt thanks in this great time of sorrow to each and everyone for the kindness and sympathy at the death of our beloved daughter and sister. Also to Rev. T. C. Harper for his comforting words, and to M. S. Rinehart for his services.

W. H. Lathouse and family.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES,
O. S. U. floriculturist

QUESTION: I noticed in one of your recent Extension publications that you mentioned the cinnamon vine. Can you tell me something more about it?

ANSWER: The cinnamon vine, Dioscorea batatas, is sometimes called the Chinese yam, the Chinese potato and even yam, although it differs from the commercial yam which we use for food. The cinnamon vine which may be grown from either the seeds or the edible rhizomes is perfectly hardy. Growing up to a height of 15 to 25 feet, its slender stems and leaves make an attractive vine for screening and shading a porch. The small white flowers are cinnamon scented. Small tubers which develop in the axis of the leaves are usually used to reproduce the plant.

QUESTION: Would the house plant known as ice plant make a satisfactory ground cover?

ANSWER: The ice plant, so far as I know, would not be satisfactory as a ground cover out of doors. If you wish an annual rather than a hardy ground cover, I would recommend the Verbena crinoides or Sanvitalia. Both of these are old-fashioned annuals which you will find listed in the larger seed catalogs.

QUESTION: I have a number of seedlings of delphiniums and other perennials which have grown from seed that I sowed during last August. Would you recommend that I leave them in the cold frame where they are or transplant them now?

ANSWER: By all means leave them in the cold frame until next Spring.

QUESTION: My evergreen bittersweet which you told me would be evergreen is losing a lot of its leaves. They are turning yellow and falling off. Is there something wrong with it? If so what can I do to save it?

ANSWER: As dry as it is this fall, many of the broadleaf evergreens such as the evergreen bittersweet (Eunonymus radicans vegetus) and others are shedding some of their lower leaves. Although it is too late to save those that have already yellowed, I believe it would be advisable to give them a heavy watering to save the remaining ones. Just this past week I saw some magnificent specimens of the evergreen bittersweet on a private estate near Cleveland. Even though they have been watered, they were losing some of their leaves owing to the excessive drought.

QUESTION: Driving out in the country the other day, I saw a shrub with flowers very much like the bittersweet, except that the outer husks were pink. Can you tell me what this might be?

ANSWER: You saw one of the cousins of the bittersweet, the Eonymus or Whao, belonging to the same family. There are several native forms, one a trailing form, one growing about a foot high which makes an excellent ground cover in the shade, the others which are tree-like. One of these have a smooth husk, the other a warty husk. You will find all of these excellent plants under cultivation.

QUESTION: We want to plant several shade trees this fall and would like to know if it is too late to do so now.

ANSWER: You can plant shade trees any time between now and next April that the ground is not frozen. If you care to keep the ground from freezing with a mulch of straw or leaves and move the tree with a frozen ball of earth around the roots, you can move them any time during the Winter.

QUESTION: Is it too late to plant shrubs?

ANSWER: Absolutely not. In fact it is just about time to start planting them, now that the leaves have shed.

A BIT OF ADVICE

As dry as it is in most parts of the state, even though we have some rain soon I recommend that every home gardener thoroughly water any plants that have been transplanted this Fall, this to include perennials, shrubs, evergreens, trees, and vines. Apply enough water to wet down at least a foot. Keep this up every 10 days or two weeks until normal rainfall moistens the ground.

QUESTION: There are a lot of little fuzzy, cottony, white things on the twigs of my white pine. Can you tell from this description what is wrong with it and what to do for it?

ANSWER: The pine bark aphid, which you apparently have, is fairly common throughout the state. If not controlled, it will greatly reduce the vitality of the tree and may eventually kill it. I believe you will find it easiest to wait until the eggs which are present now hatch early next May

Fewer Than 50 Modern; Fleet Also Lacks Submarines

WASHINGTON Nov. 22—(UP)

—The United States' deficiency in destroyers and submarines — two classes of vessels which have been assuming increasing importance in the Japanese and Italian navies — is causing considerable concern in naval circles here.

On paper, this country has about 275 destroyers, but fewer than 50 of these are regarded as modern. In the submarine category United States has 116 vessels, but only 23 are up-to-date.

The apprehension with which naval officials regard this situation was shown in a recent remark of Rear Admiral C. H. Woodward, commander of the Third Naval District. He said it was no secret that this country is "woefully weak" in these two classes.

Building Program Rushed

The Roosevelt administration has been trying to overcome the shortcomings in these categories. More than 65 destroyers and about 30 underwater craft are building or projected, or have been completed recently, but even when these are finished the United States will be far short of its aim — to have a naval force capable of defending the nation against an enemy power or a combination of hostile powers.

Ninety of the total number of destroyers are out of commission. Of those in actual service 60 are past the age regarded as the maximum for efficient service.

Compared with the 50 modern destroyers in the United States fleet recent statistics show that Japan has 82 that are under-age, France 61, Britain 83. Germany has only 22 under-age, according to available figures, but the close co-operation of Rome and Berlin has led some observers to take the total of Germany's and Italy's forces in computing potential military air and naval strengths.

Paper Strength Great

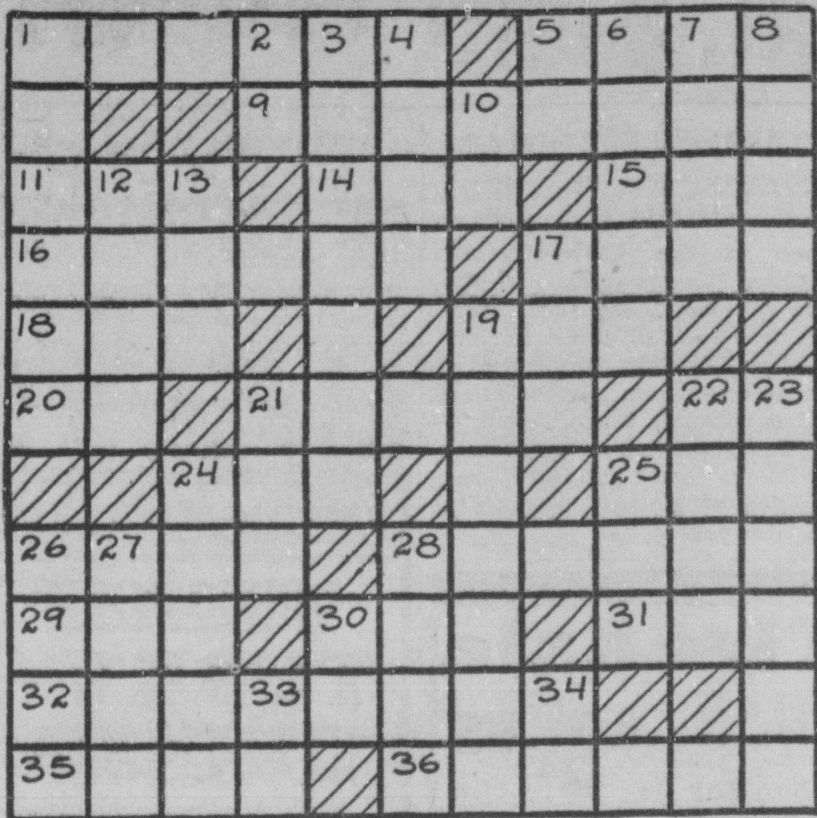

In the submarine class, the United States has more vessels than any of the other major powers with the possible exception of Italy. But this is only "paper" strength. Thirty-three of these no longer are in service and 30 more are afloat but beyond the efficient service age.

Best available information for other powers shows that Italy has 73 submarines under-age; France 76; Japan 44; Britain 1 and Germany 36.

In view of this nation's need for ships of the larger categories — battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers — the shortage is considered especially serious. The submarine is the principal menace to these types of vessels. Its "natural prey" is the destroyer.

The new building program will, to a large extent

PRESIDENT AT SPRINGS WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 22.—(UP)—President Roosevelt began a two weeks vacation today at the infantile paralysis foundation here.

$54 TAKEN FROM STATION

The Shell Oil station on N. Court street, opposite Forest cemetery, was entered Monday night and $54 in money and a quantity of merchandise stolen, police reported. The merchandise included oil, a peanut rack, battery filler and some anti-freeze. Entrance to the building was made by breaking a door glass. The station is operated by Harold Pontius.

SNAKE'S POISON MAY SAVE CHILD BELIEVED DYING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 22.—(UP)—Poison taken from the cotton-mouthed water moccasin was injected intravenously into Donald Richardson, 3, today by physicians who hoped the venom would save the boy's life.

Three drops of the poison were injected today. In a few days a few more drops will be given. The treatment will be repeated twice a week, and gradually the dosage will be increased until 12 to 15 drops will be used. Doctors expect the poison to thicken the child's blood and end hemorrhages of tiny capillaries beneath the skin and in the mouth and nasal cavities.

Donald's disease is called purpura hemorrhagica.

WRECK HURTS 30 GIRLS

KANE, Pa., Nov. 22.—(UP)—Thirty girls enroute to work at a Kane shirt factory were injured, two of them seriously, when a bus carrying them from their homes at Sheffield to Kane struck a deer at Saybrook, 11 miles west of here, and overturned into a shallow ditch.

A New York expert says women are temperamentally unsuited for chess. Guess that gives the men undisputed claim to the long distance sitting championship.

Germans Hit Minister's Move To Use Former Possession For Jews

In Berchtesgaden, it was reported, and it was understood that a final decision was to be taken today after high German officials had made a detailed study of the debate and of Chamberlain's statement.

Von Dirksen's recall, if it occurs, would be described as for the purpose of reporting to authorities, similar to the reason given the recall of Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff from Washington and the recall of American Ambassador Hugh Wilson from Berlin.

The Daily Express said Capt. Fritz Wiedmann, Hitler's personal adjutant, might be sent to London, to obtain a personal report on British public opinion regarding the Jewish situation.

The German embassy refused to discuss the report, other than to say that it had "no information."

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, is now in London undergoing medical treatment. Observers pointed out that the government could retain him here without embarrassment should Von Dirksen be recalled.

Fast moving events in the refugee situation were linked with confirmation with the swift, brief visit to London Monday of Maj. Gen. Karl Bodenschatz, important figure in the German air ministry. Some quarters said his visit foreshadowed Von Dirksen's recall.

Visit's Purpose Secret

In any event the purpose of his visit was kept completely secret. Some observers believed it a German "prank" on the eve of Chamberlain's departure for Paris to discuss Anglo-French defense plans.

It was considered unlikely, in view of the outburst of the Nazi press, that Chamberlain would obtain German cooperation for his plan, even if Von Dirksen was not recalled.

The prime minister had held out hopes that some 6,500,000 acres of land could be made available for the settlement of Jews, provided private contributions of more than $100,000,000 were made.

He laid particular stress on hot, equatorial Tanganyika, where possibly 50,000 acres could be set aside. In addition he foresaw the possibility of nearly 10,000 square miles in British Guiana for refugee settlement.

SOUTHERN MOB LYNCHES NEGRO AFTER ATTACK

WIGGINS, Miss., Nov. 22.—(UP)—Sheriff S. C. Hinton said today that a volunteer posse "just quietly hung" Wilder McGowan, 24, Negro suspected of having attacked a 74 year old white woman.

There were about 200 men in the "posse" he said, and he had been leading them in the search for McGowan. After a few hours, when the bloodhounds were unable to find the trail, the sheriff left the posse and "went down to the sawmill to investigate a report that McGowan was working there," he said.

He said the posse must have found McGowan near his grandmother's house when he was gone to the sawmill because when he got back he found the body hanging to a tree. There were no bullets in the body, and no evidences of torture, he said.

The coroner's jury decided McGowan died "at the hands of parties unknown."

HEALTHERS GIVE 300 TREATMENTS AGAINST FEVER

Approximately 300 W. P. A. employees of Pickaway county took their first treatment for the prevention of typhoid Monday at the county health office. The workers reported to the office between 1 and 4 o'clock. A representative of the state department of health gave the treatment. Three treatments are given over a period of three weeks.

The workers are being given treatments as the result of a death from the disease last week in the district between Darbyville and Derby. A spring was found to be contaminated and was closed for drinking purposes. Health officials believed the workers employed on the rural districts should be treated for the prevention of typhoid.

ly yesterday, demanding increased wages and a signed contract.

Union leaders agreed last night to permit the commission men and exchange officials to clear stock on hand and en route because they had not had time to notify farmers in advance that the tie-up would take place. After 5 p. m., both sides agreed, the yards, largest in the world and normally an exchange for stock from 35 states and Canada, will suspend trading operations until the dispute is settled.

Men in the trade said the strike had no immediate effect on retail prices at neighborhood butcher shops because packers have plentiful supplies on hand. They said there was no danger of a meat shortage in Chicago or at other points because farmers, warned not to send more animals in, were making direct shipments to packers located near Chicago.

CANADA GUARDS GERMAN VESSEL FROM SABOTAGE

QUEBEC, Nov. 22.—(UP)—The German freighter Bochum was guarded by police and crew today because of the fear of sabotage, an officer of the vessel disclosed.

Newspapermen and visitors were barred from the ship. Policemen were posted at the gangway when it arrived here yesterday to load a cargo of asbestos for Germany.

The officers said that matches and other inflammable objects had been found in the freighter's cargo on several occasions, and special precautions were being taken since a mysterious explosion wrecked the German vessel Vancouver at Oakland.

road since the detour had been placed. The commissioners were informed by highway workers that the contractor is hauling dirt across the road. The county officials informed Blair and Hill that they were willing to place watchmen on the roadway to protect traffic while the dirt was being hauled.

Mr. Blair said numerous farmers have conferred with him about the closing and he called the commissioners in the interest of the farmers. Mr. Hill said the retail merchants were back of any plan that would keep the road open as long as possible. He said the closing would be discussed further at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday evening.

Commissioners said three residents, P. W. Smallwood, who resides at the intersection of Routes 22 and 56, and Sherman Dowden and Howard Cupp, Wayne township trustees, complained about the road being closed. The commissioners said Mr. Smallwood charged that a detour sign made it impossible for him to get in his corn field.

FOUR MEN FACE 20 YEAR TERMS IN REFORMATORY

NEW LEXINGTON, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Indeterminate sentences of not less than 20 years in Mansfield reformatory were faced today by four men who pleaded guilty to the $1,700 holdup of the Junction City Banking Co. on Nov. 7.

Common Pleas Judge Hugh S. McGonagle passed sentence on Theodore Gordon, 29, Junction City; Harlan Reed, 6, Cincinnati; John O'Connor, 19, Los Angeles, and Morris Reeves, 23, Springfield, Ill.

Gordon, former Junction City marshal, had pleaded not guilty to a conspiracy charge in connection with the holdup but later changed his plea.

STARS SAY—

FOR TUESDAY, November 22

ACCORDING to astrological as well as astronomical tenets, affairs are likely to be under a cloud, physically as well as psychically, on this day, owing to a partial eclipse of the sun. This forecasts rather difficult, adverse and doubtful conditions, with probably important reactions on the employment, relations with superiors and those in authority. The mind may have rather erratic slants or radical ideas, which should be wisely managed if benefits are to ensue.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of rather important experiences, in which advantage must be wrested from obscure, chaotic and perplexing circumstances. This may be felt particularly in the occupation of profession, or in contacts with those in power and authority. These foggy or singular situations might be turned to excellent account, with beneficial change, if sagaciously and tactfully handled. Promotion and preferment are not improbable.

A child born on this day, although being versatile, energetic and ambitious, may have rather unusual or radical mental trends which may make its life adventurous and its fortunes fluctuating, unless it be directed into the proper groove of expression.

STARS SAY—

FOR TUESDAY, November 22
ACCORDING to astrological as well as astronomical tenets, affairs are likely to be under a cloud, physically as well as psychically, on this day, owing to a partial eclipse of the sun. This forecasts rather difficult, adverse and doubtful conditions, with probably important reactions on the employment, relations with superiors and those in authority. The mind may have rather erratic slants or radical ideas, which should be wisely managed if benefits are to ensue.

If It is Your Birthday
Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of rather important experiences, in which advantage must be wrested from obscure, chaotic and perplexing circumstances. This may be felt particularly in the occupation of profession, or in contacts with those in power and authority. These foggy or singular situations might be turned to excellent account, with beneficial change, if sagaciously and tactfully handled. Promotion and performance are not improbable.

A child born on this day, although being versatile, energetic and ambitious, may have rather unusual or radical mental trends which may make its life adventurous and its fortunes fluctuating, unless it be directed into the proper groove of expression.

WHITE FINED $25, COSTS
Chauncey White, S. Scioto street, paid a fine of $25 and costs Monday in B. T. Hedges' justice of peace court on a charge of failure to collect sales tax on a sale of tobacco. The charge was filed by Robert J. Gregg, state examiner.

The new automobiles indicate a swift national pickup.

TO ABOLISH FOOTBALL?
CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(UP)—The Daily Maroon, student newspaper at the University of Chicago, suggested in a front-page editorial today that intercollegiate football at the university be abolished. The editorial discussed the team's 1938 season, during which it failed to win a Big Ten game and defeated only De Pauw, and asserted that abolition of football "appears... the wise course."

$18.70 FINE, COSTS PAID
Fine of $10 and costs was assessed H. O. Eveland, N. Court street, in Mayor W. B. Cady's court, Monday night, on a charge of reckless driving. Eveland denied the charge and was found guilty after a hearing. He was accused of speeding on S. Court street on Nov. 17. Eveland paid his account amounting to $18.70.
